ASSERTED RED ACTIVITIES IN SRA PROBED BY LEGISLATORS

Bulletin
SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 25.—(UP)—Charges of discrimination against relief workers, religious intolerance or dictatorial policies in Kern county S.R.A. offices were vigorously denied today by Seldon H. Martin, county relief director, before a joint assembly-senate committee investigation.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 25.—(UP)—Sensational charges that an "inner circle" within the State Relief Administration is promoting religious intolerance, Communist doctrines and dictatorial policies today confronted the legislature as a joint senate-assembly committee probed the relief picture in California.

Maurice Slattery, Kern county office manager for the S.R.A., electrified a packed assembly chamber with the declaration that "a new Communist philosophy has appeared in the S.R.A."

Answer Critics
Relief Administrator H. Dewey Anderson and other state relief officials came forward today with rebuttal to the accusations.

Slattery laid the blame for the asserted domination by the Congress of Industrial Organizations on William Plunkett, administrative assistant to Dr. Anderson who has supervised personnel matters.

Slattery was the principal witness last night as the legislators sifted allegations that the CIO-affiliated Workers' Alliance is dictating relief policies in Kern county and other areas. He warned the investigating committee that "if this keeps up, the program of Dr. Anderson will be sabotaged and we'll have a socialized relief state under the CIO."

Wrong Philosophy
Others appearing before the committee were Catherine Lanigan and Michael Daly, until recently members of the Bakersfield staff, but now working in the Los Angeles S.R.A. office.

They said they were released from their former jobs by Kern county S.R.A. Director Seldon Martin shortly after he took over his position because their "philosophy was wrong."

The relief personnel situation held the legislative spotlight as vote was postponed over the weekend on the administration's request for $4,050,000 to continue the dole program through June.

Fear Battle
Sponsors of the bill were fearful of not being able to muster 54 votes—necessary to pass the appropriation as an emergency measure—and postponed the showdown until next week because several absences on the final legislative day of the week made it even more difficult to get the required two-thirds majority.

In spite of strenuous Republican opposition to the deficiency bill, it was expected to be given approval. The Republicans have the numerical strength to block the two-thirds vote, but few members care to go down on the record books as voting against a relief measure, which vitally affects each legislative district.

Anderson said that if the money is not allowed about 24,000 persons will have to be dropped from relief rolls immediately.

Aviatrix Claims New Record
PALM SPRINGS, Calif., March 25.—(UP)—Jacqueline Cochran claimed today a women's light plane altitude record of 33,000 feet.

The pretty aviatrix, with oxygen breathing apparatus strapped over her blonde curls, spiraled her Beechcraft plane more than 6 miles high over the desert yesterday.

Her barograph was taken in charge by Larry Therkelson of the National Aeronautics Association.

Blames Nagging

"Constant nagging" was revealed today as the motivating force which caused Roger Cunningham, above, to murder his wife and hide her body in a newly-dug sewage ditch near Oklahoma City, Okla. His 30-year old wife, Eudora, victim in the tragedy, is shown in the upper picture. Cunningham's confession last night ended a two-week search for the missing woman.

WIFE'S NAGGING IS BLAMED FOR MURDER

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 25.—(UP)—Roger Cunningham, confessed slayer of his socialite wife, said today that her "constant nagging" impelled him to strangle her to death March 6, and then hide her body in a sewer ditch. He drew a diagram that directed officers to the freshly dug ditch where her body was found. "I want to give this advice to all young men," Cunningham said. "Tell your wives exactly how much money you make and what to do with it, so they will not continually be nagging you to know."

Locate Body
The woman's body was found shortly after 3 a. m. by workmen digging in the eerie light furnished by flares and lanterns. The body was under eight feet of earth as the ditch had been filled on March 7, the day after Cunningham put it there and covered it with a thin layer of dirt.

County Attorney Lewis Morris filed a murder charge against Cunningham, a 33-year old inspector for the Federal Housing Administration who said he hoped the case would be taken speedily through the courts.

"Bad Dream"
"I felt this morning like a six-year old boy awakening from a bad dream," Cunningham said. "I don't think I ever had a full realization of what I had done until today."

Cunningham insisted that he had been sincere until last Wednesday night in insisting that he did not remember what happened to his 30-year old wife.

"The realization of what I had done came to me suddenly and then all the details were vivid. My wife and I quarreled some," Cunningham said. "But I think our life was pretty much that of any young married couple. Wives should not nag husbands about how much money they make."

Pleads Insanity
Cunningham told officers: "I must have been crazy. It was a hell of a thing to do." Defense attorneys indicated he would plead insanity. Cunningham twice had been held for examination at a state hospital for the insane at Norman, Okla., they said.

Cunningham said that he had been married previously and divorced in 1932. He blamed the divorce on "money trouble."

Find Body Of Cave-In Victim

PRESCOTT, Ariz., March 25.—(UP)—Digging in 14 feet of rock, rescue workers today recovered the body of Worth Pritchett, 22-year-old miner, crushed to death when the tunnel of the Carmichael mining claim caved in on him. Pritchett was working alone in the mine at the time of the accident. Coroner Gordon Clark said death was "due to falling rock."

NIPPON-NAZI PACT LOOMS

BULLETIN
LONDON, March 25.—(UP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco has agreed to join the anti-Communist pact between Germany, Italy and Japan, it was reported in diplomatic quarters here today.

The sources said the protocol for Nationalist Spain's adherence had been completed in negotiations at Burgos last week.

TOKYO, March 25.—(UP)—Japanese leaders are engaged in urgent consultations over a German proposal for a broad German-Italian-Japanese military alliance against any opposition to their policies by the democracies, it was asserted today in official quarters.

Informants said that discussions were so bitter that a cabinet crisis might possibly be precipitated.

It was said that at present a majority of leaders were opposed to involving Japan in European matters but were not willing to abandon the German idea unless a better proposition was forthcoming elsewhere.

COUNTY RESIDENTS VICTIMS OF FRAUD

Three men convicted on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stock in the Ray-O-Vision Corporation of America and the Ray-O-Television Manufacturing company will be sentenced next Thursday following their conviction this week in U. S. District Judge Jeremiah Netter's court in Los Angeles.

Those convicted are Charles Sherwin, J. P. Sheridan and William Fildroff. Hundreds of Orange county residents invested a total of $75,000 in the two companies on the glowing promises of the promoters that for every dollar they invested they would receive $1000, it was brought out at the trial. Stock in the companies was sold all over the west.

According to Assistant U. S. Attorney Russell K. Lambeau, Sherwin has two prior convictions on the same charge.

Santa Ana Testifies
Trial of Harry W. Arnold of New York, who was indicted at the same time but who was ill when the trial of the others started, commenced yesterday in Los Angeles, with several Orange county people giving testimony. These included Dayton Alexander of Santa Ana; C. R. Raynor of Fullerton; A. Joseph of El Modena; H. Casparie of Yorba Linda and "Scotty" Hoskins of Fullerton. It is believed the trial will be completed Monday or Tuesday.

Selling of stock started in 1928, with stockholders becoming suspicious in 1932 and naming a committee of Alexander, Peter Dresch of Doheny Park; C. R. Raynor, H. Casparie and Alex Kerr of Oceanview, to make an investigation. The group called on the officers of the companies and demanded and secured the books, which were turned over to post office authorities. Indictment of the promoters followed.

Navy Seeks Missing Sloop

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(UP)—The navy department said today it had received no word from any naval vessels operating in the Panama Canal area regarding the whereabouts of the Sloop Show-Me, which is overdue on a voyage from Costa Rica to Balboa, C.Z.

The navy started a search for the sloop, carrying Mr. and Mrs. Charles King, Nevada, Mo., after Sen. Bennett C. Clark, D., Mo., asked the department's cooperation. All vessels in that area were instructed to be on the look-out but none has sighted the missing craft.

Orange Boy, 12, Hit By Truck

Leon Selenslavon, about 12, of 271 South Lemon street, Orange, suffered a broken left thigh, possible head injuries and bruises when the bumper of a truck driven by Robert Scharrer of Orange, struck his scooter at Chapman and Lemon avenues in Orange this afternoon. The boy was taken to the Orange County hospital for treatment.

According to Scharrer, the boy and three friends, all on scooters, ran in front of his truck. The other boys managed to dodge the vehicle.

IMMEDIATE SURRENDER OF MADRID PREDICTED IN ROME

Barrel of Trouble for Air Raiders

Britain's recent promises to put up to 300,000 soldiers on French soil in case of attack by Fascist powers may have been based on self-confidence in her own capacity to resist air-raids at home. The now 4.5 inch anti-aircraft gun shown above uses an especially large and destructive shell. In the foreground an artilleryman carries one.

HAIL OF LEAD ENDS CAREER OF SAVAGE WYOMING KILLER

CODY, Wyo., March 25.—(UP)—The undertaker shaved the beard and shingled the unkempt hair today and made Tarzan Durand, a savage who ate raw meat and killed five men, into plain Earl Durand, 26, a simple-minded youth who had a bad dream and never woke up.

The national guard hauled its howitzers out of the Beartooth mountains and 300 men came behind, unbreeching their rifles. The hunt was over. Tarzan, bearded woodsman, killer of man and beast, was dead. And even his parents were glad.

To the natives of this ranch country who had known Durand all his life, the hardest part to understand was what had changed him in an instant from an open-handed youth who loved the outdoors and this wild mountain country; who had felt confined even when he was in a house, in a savage killer. Until eight days ago he had had no reputation as an untractable person or as a "bad man."

Eight days ago he was in jail serving 30 days for shooting an elk out of season, an offense which is not considered to be very serious in this country where game abounds and the natives are known to kill out of season for food rather than to kill their beef cattle. He was a peaceable prisoner, on friendly terms with his jailors, and he was interested only in serving out his time.

That same day, the district attorney charged him with killing a beef steer belonging to a cattleman—a felony in this cattle raising section always severely punished. Durand was told about it and someone remarked to him that he might "get 10 years."

Twenty-four hours later, the man who loved the outdoors so much he felt confined even in a house, slugged his jailor, escaped, and began his nightmare of murder that ended on the floor of the bank at Powell yesterday afternoon. He tried to hold it up, and, wounded three times, and, though squirming in pain, found the strength to raise a pistol to his head and administer his own coup de grace.

At the farm home of his parents to which he first escaped, he shot to death Under Sheriff D. M. Baker and Town Marshal Charles Lewis. He fled toward the Beartooth range on foot in a driving blizzard. A hundred possums pursued. They hunted him for five days and, if for no other reason than for their own safety, their orders were to shoot him on sight. They covered 50 square miles of mountain country, camping at night, trekking on snow shoes by day. They found not even a track in the snow.

Wednesday, at daybreak, Tarzan came out of the mountains, broke into a farm house, and forced Art Thornburg and his wife to drive him to the headwaters of Little Rock creek high up the Bear Tooth range. There he left them and disappeared into a thicket of barren trees and boulders.

Thornburg gave the alarm. Sheriff Frank Blackburn and his

STORK CHEATS HOSPITAL
ATWATER, Calif., March 25.—(UP)—There never has been a baby born at Bloss hospital here. Today attendants at the institution were preparing busily for their first maternity case. Mrs. Clyde Jones of Winton was going to have a baby in their hospital. But the stork stepped in and ruined it all. A girl, Carol Ann, was born to Mrs. Jones in the family car as her husband pulled up outside the hospital door.

DUCE IS PROMISED SUPPORT BY NAZIS

ROME, March 25.—(UP)—Field Marshal Hermann Goering, German economic dictator and right hand man of Adolf Hitler, pledged today that Germany would remain at all costs beside Italy.

The pledge was given in Premier Benito Mussolini's own newspaper, Popolo D'Italia of Milan, as Mussolini perfected the draft of a speech he is to make tomorrow—a speech which may prove one of the most important of his career.

Await Demands
So sensational was Goering's statement that hope rose sharply that it would now be possible for Mussolini to obtain by peaceable negotiation the "natural aspirations" he seeks to satisfy, at France's expense, in the Mediterranean and Red Sea areas.

In pledging German-Italian friendship, Goering spoke bitterly of Great Britain and alluded to her, particularly, as the proverbial dog that barks but never bites. Goering confirmed that he would confer with Mussolini before he returned to Germany from his "vacation" in Italy.

"The Berlin-Rome axis is unbreakable," Goering said in the statement. "Germany will remain beside Italy regardless of what happens. Germany, I repeat, will at all costs remain beside Italy."

Fugitive Nabbed After Gun Fight

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—(UP)—Charles B. Gay, 44, ex-convict and "four-time loser," today was returned to the county jail here following his capture after a running gunbattle in Riverside county.

A trap was laid for Gay in Riverside but he eluded deputy sheriffs waiting for him and sped towards San Bernardino, later turning to Indio in what was believed to be an attempt to reach the Mexican border.

Indio police and deputy sheriffs exchanged shots with Gay and he tried to outrun the officers. The capture was effected when officers shot three tires from Gay's car.

Los Angeles officers charged that Gay was wanted on burglary and robbery charges as the alleged leader of a gang that had been operating here for some time.

Long Search For Bandit Ends

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 25.—(UP)—Sought for four years by Greensboro, N. C., officers, Stephen Gibson, 24, charged in connection with a series of "petting party" robberies, was arrested here today and arraigned before Daniel Hurley, U. S. commissioner.

Gibson was taken by police officers and an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at a cotton gin. He was ordered held in jail in default of $2000 bond and his hearing set for next Wednesday.

Officers said the suspect was allegedly a member of a gang that held up parked motorists in Greensboro during 1935 and fled illegally to avoid prosecution.

REBEL ARMY CLOSES IN

ROME, March 25.—(UP)—The surrender of Madrid to the Spanish Nationalists is imminent, a dispatch to the Giornale D'Italia said late today.

"Momentarily, we await notice of the first step in the surrender of the capital—the handing over of the airplanes belonging to the Madrid defense council," the dispatch said.

"Franco's Terms"
The dispatch added that the surrender would be "in accordance with Franco's terms."

"The surrender of the air fleet, which consists of 30 pursuit planes and 15 bombers, is foreseen for 3 p. m. at the Cuatrovientos airfield," the dispatch added.

REBELS READY TO ENTER MADRID

HENDAYE, French - Spanish Frontier, March 25.—(UP)—High Nationalist sources at the border said today that Madrid has to all practical purposes surrendered, although Nationalist troops are not penetrating beyond the Manzanares bridgeheads on the edge of the city until they have completed precautions and until the Nationalist ultimatum expires tomorrow.

The surrender was the result of Gen. Francisco Franco's demand for a decision within 48 hours, with the alternative of an offensive.

Nationalist sources declared the offensive is off and the ultimatum accepted after Franco dramatically tore up peace proposals brought by airplane from Madrid Thursday night.

Demand Surrender
The Nationalists demanded unconditional surrender but were understood to have agreed to give the Republicans time to get certain leaders out of the country who fear Nationalist reprisals.

A radio message overheard in Lisbon gave a clue that negotiations were in progress. The message was from the Madrid radio station, calling Burgos direct for the first time. It asked Burgos to stand by for "an urgent coded message." Burgos agreed.

A dispatch from Madrid said the people were tense and nervous, eagerly awaiting the end of the war and expecting it at any minute.

Fleet Surrendered
Burgos received information that the French had delivered the Republican fleet at Brizerta, Tunis, to the Nationalists. At Gibraltar, the British surrendered the Loyalist destroyer Jose Luis Diaz to the Nationalists.

It was indicated strongly in dispatches received by the Nationalist and Republican censors that the Nationalists had given the Republicans a "reasonable time" to permit any Republican leaders who desired, to leave Madrid and seek safety abroad before the Nationalist troops entered.

Guarded reports from Burgos indicated that certain Republican envoys had reached at least a suburb of Burgos Thursday and returned to Madrid the same day with the Nationalist terms.

Cite Terms
It was understood that the Republican defense counsel met Thursday night to consider the Nationalist terms.

Prisoner Dies After Fight

FOLSOM PRISON, March 25.—(UP)—Warden Clyde Plummer announced today Joe Lopez, 30, from Imperial county, died in the prison hospital this morning from a severe head injury assertedly inflicted by Joe Moya, 32, in the prison yard yesterday.

Plummer said murder charges would be filed against Moya, who entered the prison Jan. 7 on a holdup charge from San Bernardino county. Guards said he wrapped a blunt instrument in a sock and struck Lopez above the ear, injuring him fatally. Lopez had served 10 years of a 12 year term for second degree burglary. Guards could advance no motive for the incident.

"Phantom" Thief Says Stars "Invite" Trouble

SUSPECT HELD AS MURDERER

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—(UP)—Ralph Graham, 200-pound "phantom" jewel thief identified as a murder suspect in Florida, said today that Hollywood movie stars invite trouble by having more jewels than they can use.

"These movie people pay fancy prices for their jewelry, wear it a few times and then get tired of it," he said. "It's all insured so they leave it kicking around any place—you don't have to have any inside help on these knockovers."

At the same time Graham insisted he himself had not raided any exclusive Hollywood homes as claimed. He said he merely acted as an agent for a gang responsible for the theft of jewels in the Los Angeles area totaling more than a million dollars in the past four or five years.

Scotched at Denial

Police scoffed at Graham's denial of actual robberies and they took him south by United Airlines plane to Los Angeles today for questioning on the jewel thefts and the names found in a "little black book."

With the arrest of Graham's wife, Charlotte, in Venice, Calif., and her son by a previous marriage, Robert Graham, 21, police announced they had found a little black book containing the names of persons possibly connected with a jewel theft ring.

Arrest of Mrs. Graham and her son brought to four the number held with Graham for investigation so far into the jewel thefts. Frank Cator, outside whose San Francisco jewelry store Graham was arrested in a fist fight with pawnshop detail officers, was held as an asserted "fence" used in attempts to dispose of stolen loot.

Called "Fence"

Cator denied knowledge of Graham's activities but was named by the thief, who also brought the name of George Zwilling, wholesale jeweler into the case.

Graham said he tried to peddle $80,000 worth of jewels found in his possession with Cator and that Cator had told him Zwilling might dispose of them. Zwilling and Cator were both held on charge of conspiracy to receive stolen property, gave an interesting story of dealings with Graham. He said he first bought jewels from him two years ago in an outright transaction and then had been forced, when he learned the illicit source of them, to act as a "fence" for him.

Graham forced him, he said under threat of exposure to peddle at least $100,000 worth of stolen loot, precious stones and expensive baubles, taken from homes in the exclusive Bel-Air district of Los Angeles. He said them, he said, in New York City and turned the proceeds over to Graham.

STRIKE BY PLUMBERS TIES UP WORK ON N. Y. FAIR BUILDINGS

NEW YORK, March 25.—(UP)—A plumbers' strike tied up final construction work on 150 buildings at the World's Fair grounds today and contractors feared they would not be ready for the opening of the fair April 30.

Fred Brutschy, president of the Plumbing Contractors Association, said there was no sign of immediate settlement. The strikers, members of the United Association of Plumbers and Gas Fitters, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, made no complaint against wages or working conditions at the fair grounds, but charged that contractors failed to pay them $2 an hour for a six hour day on other jobs in the city.

Says Wages Cut

The strike was directed against master plumbers of Manhattan and Bronx boroughs, many of whom have contracts at the fair. The buildings where work has stopped included the railroad building, Ford building and several foreign buildings.

Heckler said that outside the fair grounds, the contractors had cut wages to $1.80 cents an hour and imposed a seven hour day. Brutschy said the union had ratified a $1.80, seven hour agreement by a vote of two to one, last January. Heckler said this vote was "illegal."

Medeiros, of Bakersfield, one of the witnesses, asserted he drove four miles after Terrass in an attempt to stop him.

Mack Dill, 28-year-old transient, who just completed a 30-day county jail term on a drunk conviction, this morning was re-booked at the jail to be held for federal authorities on a charge he was found in possession of several counterfeit 50-cent pieces. Dill hails from Oklahoma.

Lupe Torrez Moorno, 22, Fullerton, was re-booked at county jail this morning to begin an additional term of 50 days for driving his car while his driver's license was suspended.

Two men were arrested yesterday by sheriff's officers for other counties who wish to prosecute them on charges of failure to support minor children. Kermit Palmer, 33, was arrested at his home, 150 South Pacific street, Tustin, for prosecution in Ontario justice court; Chester H. Woodruff, 38, of Olive, was arrested at Olive for prosecution in San Antonio justice court, Los Angeles county.

Madrid Ready To Surrender

These terms provided for an unconditional surrender, according to the Nationalist version. It was taken as confirmed that the Nationalists required an unconditional surrender in principle but had offered to permit any Republicans who felt they might be subjected to reprisals to leave Madrid and other areas. The Nationalists required also that all Republican troops be disarmed, that all armaments be handed over to them, and that the Republican regimes in Republican territory dissolve themselves. A further important requirement was that mined areas in the Madrid defense zone be made safe.

Bullets End Killer's Career

posse got bloodhounds, and beside the mountain creek, they picked up Tarzan's trail and followed it. Late that day the dogs holed up the killer in a natural mountain fortress. Blackburn's men drew up to the edge of a 100 yard square clearing whose northern edge was a sheer cliff or rock. Knowing that Tarzan was a deadly marksman, Blackburn ordered that no man was to show himself.

Orville Linabary and Arthur Argento disobeyed. They stepped into the clearing and a rifle spat twice from the cliff. They dropped and their bodies rolled down an incline, over snow.

For 12 hours, through late afternoon and night of Wednesday, the cleared "no man's land" was inviolate for the possemen. About midnight, with a hundred rifles cocked in the darkness a few hundred yards to his left, Tarzan slipped from his lair and down to the bodies of his victims.

From the feet of one, he jerked shoes; took bootlaces from the other and picked up both their rifles. Also he ripped the bright deputy sheriff badge from Linabary's shirt. Then he crept back.

At midday Thursday, Blackburn ordered his men to blast him out. The posse advanced, firing elk guns and six shooters. They found the fortress deserted.

Wyoming sent a detachment of national guard with small artillery. Montana sent another detachment with howitzer and trench mortar.

At dawn yesterday, three hundred men set out for the highest pinnacle of the Bear Tooth where Blackburn believed Durand had found another citadel. By noon they were nearing the pinnacle.

And at noon, 10 miles to the east, a bearded, shaggy haired man sat with a rifle across his arms at a roadside. He stopped an automobile carrying three possemen. The man fingered his badge.

"How about taking me up to the posse," he asked.

"Sure," said Harry Moore.

The man got in and pulled a pistol from his hip pocket.

"I guess you'd better turn around and drive the other way," he said. "I'm Earl Durand."

Moore did, while his passengers, John Simpson and his 86-year old father, P. O. Simpson, covered.

Moore drove him to his home. He entered, confronting his mother and father, his pistol still in the ribs of one of his three captives.

"They've got me, Dad—aren't you surprised?" he said laughing.

"I've come after some things. Do I get them or do I have to take them at the point of this gun?"

His mother sobbed, "Earl, you sure have changed."

His father said, "Go right ahead, son."

He took a knapsack of food. He hadn't eaten cooked food in eight days. He forced Moore to drive to an abandoned mine east of town, put the three out and drove away, yelling:

"Goodbye boys—Don't forget to come to my funeral."

Thirty minutes later, he parked the car on the Powell main street in front of the First National bank. He entered, brandishing his revolver, his rifle under his other arm. To the president, Robert Nelson, he said:

"No one will be hurt if you obey orders," and he asked for the money in the safe, bringing into his gun range Cashier Morris Knutson and John Gawthrop.

Knutson told him the safe was locked, by time lock. He scooped up $2000 in currency and jammed it into his knapsack. Tying the three men haphazardly together with the boot strings of his last victim, he moved them ahead of him toward the door.

But he had been recognized as he entered the bank and townsmen were outside, waiting. From behind his shield of three men, he saw them and opened fire. His rifle and pistol fire rained out into the street, smashing through windows and door glass. His captives broke away, and when Gawthrop sought to slip out of the door he was shot dead, either accidentally or purposely by Tarzan. Cornered, all avenues of escape closed, already winged twice by shots from the street, he boldly exposed himself, firing wildly in all directions.

Across the street in a gasoline station, a school boy, who had all ways thought Earl Durand "a great guy," leveled a rifle and brought the sight of Tarzan's chest and fired. Tarzan crumpled, groveling on the tile floor of the bank. He had just reloaded his big black .45. Slowly, painfully he drew up his arm, put the barrel against his temple and fired.

Although he had been charged with accepting bribes and other judicial misconduct, the court did not find Rudick guilty of criminal activities.

Judge Satisfied

Rudick's attorney, Walter Hart, said the decision "absolved him of any charges of corruption and that 'the judge and I feel it to be a clean cut victory.'" He said Rudick would have resigned regardless of the decision "because he felt his efficiency . . . would have been impaired by the airing of these charges . . ."

Rudick was the first jurist removed in an investigation by the state of alleged official corruption in the Kings county judiciary.

Two grand juries under the direction of Special Prosecutor John Harlan Amen are investigating the conduct of judges and law enforcing officials.

Nippon-German Treaty Looms

Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma, the premier; Hachiro Arita, foreign minister; Lieut. Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, war minister; Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, navy minister, and Sotaro Ishiwata, finance minister, were said to be in frequent conference in an effort to decide Japan's policy.

In connection with the alliance talk, it was disclosed that Baron Hiranuma had reported to Emperor Hirohito today on the closing of parliament and "pending diplomatic matters. He summarized the situation for the emperor, it was said, and answered questions regarding it.

As Hiranuma visited the emperor, 106 of the 466 members of the diet, representing minor parties, sent him a petition asking him to conclude a military alliance with Germany and Italy "against Great Britain and France, which are obstructing Japan's present sacred aims."

The petition was presented after the government had refused to permit introduction in parliament of a resolution to the same effect.

In favor of the alliance, according to informants, were the Russian, Italian and German sections of the Japanese German staff.

Favor Pact

War Minister Itagaki was represented as favoring an alliance to cover the possibility of war against Soviet Russia alone.

Foreign Minister Arita was held to be supporting War Minister Itagaki and to be urging that Japan make a counter-proposal for a military alliance applicable to Russia alone.

It was admitted by those who favored this course, informants said, that Germany and Italy were unlikely to accept any such counter-proposal.

Business Aid Plans Rushed

President Roosevelt endorsed the plan and it found immediate favor among committeemen.

Urges Speed

Doughton indicated that he wishes to act quickly on this phase of the business appeasement program and said that he expected to discuss the matter with the President before Mr. Roosevelt leaves for Warm Springs, Ga., Wednesday.

"I think that we should make changes which would aid business provided no revenue is lost," Doughton said. "The revenues must be maintained."

This is the treasury's problem, Doughton said, and the treasury must make the next move.

"We have to spend less or raise more revenues or both one of these days," Doughton said. "We probably will have to do both."

Another prominent Democratic member of the committee said today that the committee would take "the most liberal course and do everything possible to help business."

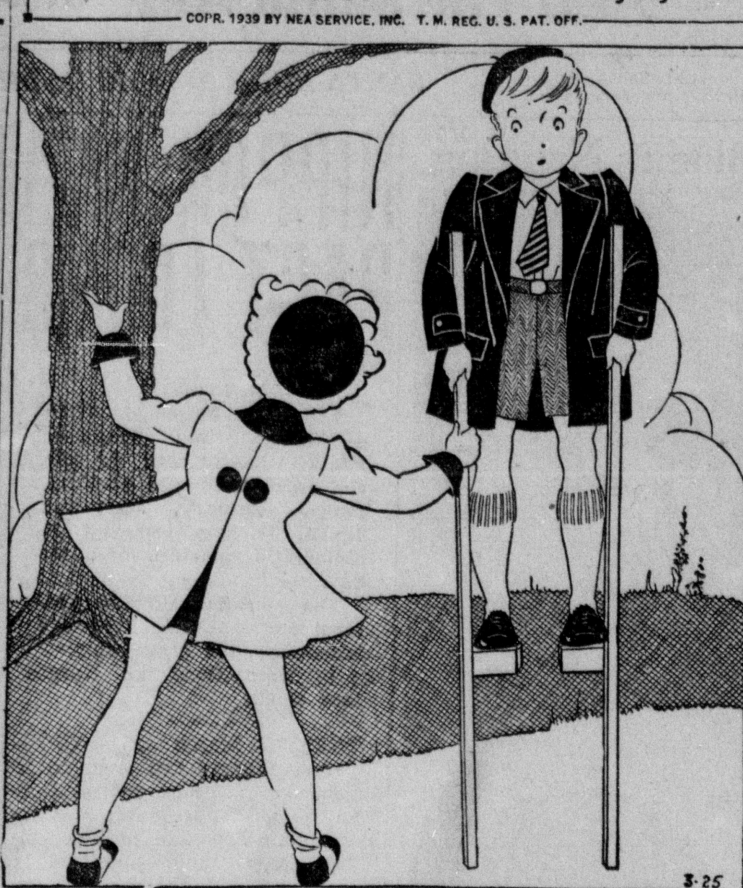

"You can be assured of that," he said.

Morganthau's suggestion for scrapping the $47,000,000,000 full reserve for the social security fund in favor of a limited reserve of approximately $3,000,000,000 in a joint statement that the administration finally had come around to Republican views on the reserve fund which they considered "dangerous and unwieldy." Morganthau's plan would delay any increases in the social security tax rates until 1943.

taker, prepared a report on his findings. On the fourth day of his spree, Tarzan had written Sheriff Blackburn and penciled this return address on the envelope: "Earl Durand, undertaker, Powell, Wyo." In the letter he suggested that, when killed, his head be mounted and hung from the Park county courthouse as a lesson to youth on law and order.

NLRB REINSTATES SUSPENDED LOS ANGELES BOARD DIRECTOR

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(UP)—The National Labor Relations Board today reinstated Dr. Towne Nylander of Los Angeles.

Nylander was suspended February 27 when the board conducted an investigation of charges that he had made the statement that an employer "hasn't got a chance" before the labor board during a community forum in Inglewood, Calif., February 6.

Clears Nylander

The board announced that Lieut. Cmdr. James E. Brenner, U. S. N., retired, and law professor at Stanford university, had conducted an investigation. Brenner notified the board that Nylander in his speech "did not intend to convey the impression that the procedure of the National Labor Relations Board does not provide a full and impartial hearing for employers against whom formal complaints have been filed."

Nylander "did intend that his audience should be impressed with the fact that when a complaint is actually served," said Brenner. "The 21st regional office (Los Angeles) does not have a scintilla of doubt as to the employers' guilt."

Brenner reported that Nylander did make a qualified statement "that he personally hoped the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations would remain two distinct organizations."

Brenner's investigation concerned the accuracy of an article about Nylander's speech which appeared in the Inglewood Daily News.

Brenner said the news story "appears to be a case of reasonably accurate reporting, but it includes interpretations not intended by the lecturer."

"There is square conflict as to whether Dr. Nylander used these exact words: 'I'll tell you frankly when we go into a hearing the employer hasn't got a chance.'"

The state senate agricultural committee will hold a hearing Tuesday evening, in Sacramento on measures affecting the California Agricultural prorate, according to a message sent to the Orange County Farm bureau today by Ray Wiser, president of the California Farm Bureau federation.

Because of the importance of the hearing, a large number of leading agriculturalists from all parts of California will be present for the hearing, with a delegation favoring the retention of the prorate scheduled to meet at the Sacramento hotel at 2 p. m. Tuesday, it was stated.

A. Hershey and Police Matron Bertha Anderson on the charge of being incorrigible. Arrested on a complaint signed by her father, the girl was taken to juvenile home where she will face prosecution by juvenile authorities.

Plan Experiment With Stores

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 25.—Experimental grocery stores for state relief clients to reduce costs of supporting newcomers on state relief were announced for Los Angeles and Sacramento today by State Relief Administrator Anderson.

One store for each city will be set up under a $10,000 fund authorized by the state relief commission yesterday. Other stores will follow if the first two prove successful. The SRA will furnish the clerks and stock under a plan worked out by Mitchell Saadi, heading the administration's program for cooperatives.

USE OF "PRESSURE" IN RELIEF CHARGED

KERMAN, Cal., March 25.—(UP)—Asserting that relief is becoming a "pressure game," Harold Pomeroy, executive secretary of the Associated Farmers of California, warned in an address here last night that groups "out to get all they can from the government" are seeking to control the State Relief Administration.

Speaking to 250 members of the Associated Farmers, he described the Workers Alliance, union of relief clients, as "the most vicious pressure group ever organized in the United States." Pomeroy was a former state relief administrator.

Attacks Radicals

Holmes Bishop of Orange county, state president of the Associated Farmers, warned that "radical elements" are driving a wedge of hatred between employers and workers, and voiced a plea for a better relationship between the farmer and his employee. He asked the employer to do his part to see that the worker is treated "in the American way."

Pomeroy said the relief problem is essentially a conflict between factions seeking to keep relief expenditures in line with the ability of the state to pay, and those pressure groups which want to get more from the government for nothing.

WEEK'S PARLEY COMES TO CLOSE

The week-long American Red Cross institute held at the First Presbyterian church for the purpose of studying Red Cross methods of operation closed today after a morning devoted to Junior Red Cross activities in health, safety, prevention and suffering and promotion of good will, and federal, state and local public and private social work agencies.

Miss Charlotte M. Linford, unable to appear yesterday, was present for this morning's social work agencies meeting.

Duty To Families

Last night at the dinner program, Mrs. Edith H. McAllister, director of civilian relief in the Pacific area, and A. L. Schafer, Red Cross manager for the Pacific area, were feature speakers. Mrs. McAllister gave a word picture of the Red Cross organization's duty to take care of families during major disasters, of the studies necessary to learn family needs in times of disaster and the methods used in making awards.

Schafer told of the necessity for every community, large or small, to organize in preparation for possible disasters. He pointed out that the Red Cross is saved much money through these preparedness programs.

"Belongs To People"

"The National American Red Cross is the only agency authorized officially by Congress to give relief during disasters," Schafer said. "The Red Cross responsibility events even to single families who may have come to great grief through loss of home or life. The National Red Cross belongs to the people. There has never been a time yet where federal or state funds were given to the Red Cross in times of disaster, although California voted $20,000 for Red Cross relief of Long Beach at time of the March 10, 1933, earthquake and Kentucky voted $50,000 once. But these sums never were given to the Red Cross."

Yesterday, Mrs. McAllister devoted the time to disaster relief case work with families, and Schafer spoke on Red Cross administration. In the afternoon, yesterday, Schafer spoke on Junior Red Cross work and need for disaster preparedness. Schafer emphasized the value of the National Red Cross reserve fund of $5,000,000 which can be used at a moment's notice if necessary.

SEEKS COMPROMISE

A petition to compromise a damage claim of Norman Durnil, 18, of Westminster, against Harry R. Miller, for $180, was asked in a petition filed today in superior court by the youth's father, W. V. Durnil. The claim is based upon a traffic accident March 12 on Garden Grove boulevard near Los Alamitos boulevard.

DELAYS ANSWER; NOW CHARGED WITH $18,000 GRAND THEFT

Melvin H. Crawford, 53, yesterday may have regretted his delay in filing his answer to a grand theft charge brought against him in superior court several weeks ago, accusing him of an $8000 theft of real estate from Mrs. Belle Dobson of Santa Ana.

For yesterday the situation underwent a radical change. The district attorney's office suddenly filed an amended complaint, and Crawford found himself facing two counts of grand theft, aggregating $18,000, and two counts of conspiracy to commit grand theft.

Hearing March 31

The conspiracy charges apparently were based upon Crawford's alleged complicity with E. Floyd Horton in an asserted fraud upon Mrs. Dobson in connection with sale of ranch property belonging to her. Horton previously had pleaded guilty to a single grand theft charge, and will receive a probation hearing March 31. Meanwhile he is said to have "talked," resulting in the revising of prosecution against Crawford.

Gets Probation

William Gutosky, charged with driving an automobile after his license had been suspended, was granted probation for two years, on condition that he serve 30 days in jail.

Lambert Urges Bill To Prevent Refunds Of Excess Tax Levies

Proposed legislation to prevent refunds of excess tax levies, resulting through technical errors in computing tax rates, was endorsed today by County Auditor W. T. Lambert, who declared the tax-refund practice under present law has developed into a racket by tax experts for their personal gain, but at great loss to the taxpayers.

Suits instigated by these tax experts have been brought, or are threatened in various cities and counties of the state, involving millions of dollars, said Lambert, who called attention to recent action of the county auditors and tax collectors association in passing a resolution favoring amendments that would prohibit tax refunds of such character.

Fears Future Levies
If the courts sustain these claims, large future tax levies would be required to pay off the judgments, Lambert pointed out, emphasizing that only the tax experts profit, while the taxpayers suffer loss.

"There has never been any claim that these excess levies were fraudulently or improperly spent, or have contributed to waste or excessive use of funds," said Lambert. The excess measure results, he said, from failure to carry out amounts to the exact fraction, in computing tax rates necessary to raise amounts budgeted.

In Orange County
"On Orange county, for example, the excess is only a trifling amount. And it is not wasted. It goes into the reserves carried over to the following year, when it is applied to the budget for that year and requires just that much less tax levy for that year," said Lambert.

"The taxpayer is not harmed in any way by this practice, but on the other hand would be damaged considerably, not only by a large tax levy that would be required to meet a refunding judgment, but also by the cost of guarding against a future excess levy," he added.

Held Expeditions
"The present method of computing rates in round figures is used because it is obviously more simple and expeditious. To work out rate computation to the exact fraction would mean purchasing additional equipment, such as computing machines, and would also require longer time of clerks. All that means cost to the taxpayer."
"Another disadvantage of the situation that would result," Lambert continued, "would be loss of school reserves. In planning our tax levy for the fiscal year, we must provide 18-month financing, because the schools must wait until December before any considerable quantity of tax money comes in. That extra six months 'dry' period, therefore, must be included in calculations for the fiscal period between one July 1 and the next."

PRESBYTERY WOMEN TO ATTEND PARLEY

With 500 delegates expected to attend from Los Angeles and Orange counties and from areas as far south as San Diego, the annual meeting of the Women's National and Foreign Missionary society of the Presbytery of Los Angeles, including 12 districts, will be held Monday and Tuesday at the First Presbyterian church of Pomona, Mrs. Clyde Downing, district vice president of Orange county, announced today. Thirty delegates probably will go to the meetings from this county, she estimated.

There will be several prominent speakers.

SEEK TO CHANGE NAME OF J. C. TO SANTA ANA 'CITY COLLEGE'

Rallying to the campus move inaugurated last week by El Don, Santa Ana Junior college newspaper, over 25 percent of the Associated Students had today signed a petition to the board of education, asking the local jaysee be re-named Santa Ana City college.

Expressing sympathy with the move, Director D. K. Hammond this week said he favored the proposal. Hammond's complete statement follows:

"We originally hoped for this suggested title nearly 10 years ago, but up to now no definite action has been taken.

"Would Clarify Opinion"
"The term 'junior' may possibly be a misnomer since it seems to infer to some that we are conducting an institution of an inferior rank. In reality, however, our courses and our position are as accredited as any four-year college, and we are recognized by the state as having an equal standing for work done the first two years. There can be no harm of clarifying any opinion to the contrary by substituting the word 'city' for the present word 'junior.'"

Voicing similar thoughts, Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of city schools, stated that "students have nothing to lose, and may possibly gain by submitting to the board. In the present light, I can see no objection to the move."

Others In Same Move
Supporters of the measure pointed out that although the jaysee status would remain unchanged so far as state records are concerned, the Santa Ana board may confer upon the college any title they desire. Dismissing doubts of some students and faculty members as to whether the change could be easily accomplished, Director Hammond cited Los Angeles and other jaysees of the state where the switch has been made. Word was received from Riverside Junior college this week that students there also desired to eliminate the word "junior," and lent their encouragement to the Santa Ana students.

news behind the news

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright, 1939.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Mr. Roosevelt seemed to wash his hands of tax appeasement. Afterward, a senator who had been working more or less directly with the White House on the appeasement program, told a friend: "It looks like the President has been stringing me along."

The senator is not the only one complaining. Dozens of officials have been wailing similarly. No more surface confusion ever attended government policy making. But on the inside, surprises as to what happened are quite clear.

Apparently, Mr. Roosevelt first thought a tax appeasement program would be a good idea, to stimulate business, to boost the stock market, to attest the new friendliness toward business. But when the idea failed to go over and he decided to go slow on it and is covering his retreat with well managed confusion.

Nothing could better illustrate the workings of government than this tax case.

First mention of the subject came from Mr. Roosevelt. When he left for naval maneuvers he said no increase in taxes would be necessary this session. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau followed up immediately by disclosing the treasury (meaning his assistant, John Hanes) was studying revision of the corporate tax structure. Harry Hopkins came forth with his Iowa speech hinting further at business tax appeasement.

The left wing crowd in the New Deal was indignant. For a week or so the left-tip men murmured that Hopkins' speech was a failure. In truth, the market went off instead of up. Business had not been howling about taxes, did not improve.

Tommy Corcoran, presidential advisor, ill for weeks, began to get busy on the telephone from his hospital bed. His brain-twin, Ben Cohen, became active. Their resentment reached a culmination when Cohen took Hanes to lunch one noon about two weeks ago at the Washington hotel, and Hopkins and Assistant Commerce Secretary Patterson came over from a nearby table. One version has it that Cohen told Hanes "the administration would not stand" for his appeasement plan and that Hanes replied: "Who is the administration?" At any rate, the result was like that.

The President, at his next press conference, talked altogether differently about taxes, saying it was "in the study stage" and no one could tell what would happen. Administration columnists began denying there was "an inside battle" over tax appeasement. Corcoran left town to recuperate. Treasury men became jubilant again, saying they were confident the President would espouse their program. Next, and last, the President indicated the tax matter was Senator Pat Harrison's baby, not his.

It is apparent that if Mr. Roosevelt backs out completely on taxes, congress, in its present mood, might take up the Hanes program and pass it. Harrison, the senate chairman, has been working with Hanes and with representatives of business and other organizations here in preparing the program. For that reason, it may be too early to accept fully the official word now being passed in the house and senate that "there will be no new tax program this session."

With all factions involved in such a delicate situation, it is yet impossible to tell what will come out, if anything.

Don't be misled by the false popular title of the bill "to take the profits out of war." It is a bill to take war-money out of the people. Profits have nothing to do with it. If it were what it is supposed to be, it would confiscate all profits of corporations or individuals above a peace-time rate—that is to say everything over six per cent or the average for the previous few years. That would be taking the profits out of war. This bill, however, not not concerned even with that subject. It proposes to levy a new tax system on the country for war-times—$833 on a $4000 income; $2650 on a $10,000 income; 98 per cent on incomes of $1,000,000, etc. If you are a worker earning $4000 a year you would be taxed $833 even if you never got a nickel of profit out of war.

Some of those 50 senators listed as joint authors of the bill weren't. At least two could be named who had not read the bill. A lot of the 50 "co-authors" were amazed to read in the newspapers later that it would take large incomes more than the incomes, when the taxes of states were added to those proposed for the federal government.

Apparently the senators had been reading these newspaper and magazine polls which fathom the American mass mind. These polls indicated the idea of "taking the profit out of war" was 96.45312 per cent popular, or some figures near that, so they authorized use of their names as sponsors without going into the exact nature of this particular proposal.

The bill will not pass in its present state. . . . Senator Chavez is being quoted as saying he changed his vital vote on the reorganization bill after he "slept over it." If the inspiration came in his sleep, Vice President Garner was there. Mr. Garner worked quietly but effectively to change the administration's one vote defeat

BUILDING AND REMODELING NEWS

GOOD PLUMBING IS NECESSITY

The importance of maintaining a continuous supply of pure water was cited today by E. J. Duke, local manager of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company.

"Today every town of any size supplies pure water to its people through pipes and the health, even the very life of the people depends upon keeping this supply of water pure," Duke said.

"One faulty or wrong connection causing pollution may bring dire results.

Pollution Cited
"That such water supply pollution has occurred is not mere theory. In the United States during the past 15 years there have been 2400 cases of typhoid, 140 deaths and over 18,000 cases of dysentery caused by such faulty water supply connections.

The water supply is made always pure either by filtration or sterilization at the supply station, but somewhere along the way pollution occurs. Too often it is after the water leaves the main and enters homes, office buildings, or factories. Here improperly installed or faulty equipment allows the pure water to mix with poisonous waste. Cross connections, back siphonage, and submerged inlets are some of the most common causes of pollution. Unfortunately they are not easily detected by the layman and therefore they continue their disastrous work until the evil effects are felt.

Aware of Dangers
"Fortunately there are in every community, men qualified by training and experience to properly install new plumbing equipment and to detect any errors in old installations — the master plumbers. They are full aware of the dangers of cross connections and similar errors that bring dangerous pollution of the pure water and are careful to install the plumbing so as to avoid any such possibility of such contamination."

THE HOME DECORATOR

By ERNEST W. GOULD

Watch Your Windows

Windows are fun to dress. Of course, you'll probably drag your husband from his paper long enough to hang them for you, but the fun is yours . . . the planning, the shopping for material, and the draping itself. There are so many things you can do to them, and they are conspicuous places in your home where you can really let yourself go as to originality.

For rooms that are really Victorian nothing is more charming against light walls than deep moirai curtains with tassels fringed, draped to the side and with a fairly deep valance. Beneath these, sheer net glass curtains and a plain shade, wall color. For narrow windows in a simple room, particularly a low room, it's well to have perfectly straight drapes, floor length, no valance. Pull them over just as far as you can beyond the window width. It'll make the window appear much larger than it really is.

It depends upon the material you use, of course, just how you'll treat your drapes. Homespun material and heavy cotton or linens really call for box-pleating. Silks are grand and lend themselves to accordion pleating, shirring and gathers. Chintz is always nice, simply gathered on the pole and draped to the sides. And your furnishings, of course, condition the type of material for your windows. The man's den would naturally call for a heavy material and perfectly plain treatment. The daughter's room for frilly curtains and gay chintz. The formal living room, heavy silks, damask or the like. Cottons for the very informal dining room, or chintz, perhaps. And here's something new. Plain striped bed ticking is being used a great deal in simple bedroom settings.

Perhaps if you have too many windows in your bedroom you could use one as a background for your dressing table. Soft net curtains, a quilted satin drapery and valance, floor length and pulled to the side, the same quilted material for the dressing table skirt and you're really a most charming effect. But whatever you do, make your windows more than mere spaces from which to view the street. Make them the pleasant framework they should be for the pictures you see through those windows.

INVESTMENT IN ORANGE GROVE SUGGESTED BY REALTY LEADER

BY RAY GOODCELL

President of the Santa Ana Realty Board

For many years we have read and listened to the quotation, "Westward the course of empire takes its way." According to that statement, Santa Ana is just about at the turning point, the ultimate goal of an overdue avalanche of increased population.

The mad rush hasn't caught up number one income producers. A net $1 per box from the packing hand. According to some who claim to know, there will be, in the years to come, a general decrease in the population of the United States as a whole. They credit this decline to the rearing of smaller or no families at all by the present generation, and to the ban on immigrants to this country.

Growth Assured
However, the contention also is that California and Florida will continue to grow through the natural influx of people to a better climate. If this forecast be true, we can plan here as we have heretofore, and not be overcome with the thought of a static future, not here in Orange county anyway.

With a lull in the sale of orange lands now because of a depressed market for fruit, it may be just the right time to acquire a few acres to insure against future development. It is not at all unreasonable to believe that with improved conditions, as is promised, that there will again be a demand for citrus groves.

And that demand, contrary to some skeptics, won't be exclusively for the purpose of providing sites for homes. It will probably be for the enrichment of the owner's capital account, for profit from production for increased land and orchard value.

And whether or not new residents migrate here to take up their permanent home, it will take but little change in the selling price of oranges to make these groves most desirable investments. In fact, even a slight reduction in the cost of picking, packing, shipment, and selling may easily put them back on the map as

BEAVERS BREAK TRAINING CAMP AT FULLERTON

(By United Press)
FULLERTON—Portland breaks camp after today's game with Hollywood here. The Beavers play in San Diego tomorrow, then head north for games with Oakland in Visalia and finally the league opener in Sacramento April 1.

ANAHEIM—Seattle rested today after a 5-2 victory over Portland yesterday. A Portland rally nearly succeeded in the ninth. Lyle Turpin, rookie pitcher, had let in one run and filled the bases, when he turned the mound over to the "Hunk" Anderson who ended the game in short order. The Rainiers play Los Angeles here tomorrow.

SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco's Seals open a five-game exhibition series with the major league Pittsburgh Pirates at Seals stadium here today. Manager "Lefty" O'Doul named the veteran "Sad Sam" Gibson to start on the mound for the home town squad. Either Cy Blanton or Russ Bauers are expected to hurl for Pittsburgh.

RIVERSIDE—Sacramento, trounced 9-4 by Hollywood yesterday, went up against Los Angeles today as the spring exhibition series drew near an end.

Sacramento 200-101-000—4 10 1
Chapman, Brysch and Brenzel, Dapper; Berg, Martinek, Kelleher and Ogdorowski, Katkavak.

LOS ANGELES—Defeated by the Chicago White Sox 6-4 yesterday, Los Angeles went back to its own league today in an exhibition against Sacramento at Riverside. Chicago 105-000-000—6 10 0
Los Angeles 100-100-200—4 7 1
Dietrich, Dobner and Rensa, Tresh; Prim, Flores and Collins.

LOS ANGELES—Chicago's National League Club and American League White Sox opened a 10-game spring training series today with the National leaguers today in a two-game advantage as result of earlier meetings.
The Cubs wound up their spring series with the Pittsburgh Pirates at San Bernardino yesterday with an 8 to 4 victory. Joe Marty, the Cubs' world series sensation, led the victory drive with a home run that scored two men ahead of him.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals, even with two victories each, start as a major league against the Cardinals today. Manager Ray Blades of the Cards plans to start Paul Dean in his first exhibition game. The Cards blanked the Boston Bees 2-0 yesterday while the Yankees hammered their Kansas City farmhands 3-0.

BRANDTOWN, Fla.—Brooklyn Dodgers come here today to play the first of their home-and-home series with the Boston Bees. They play again tomorrow at Clearwater. The Dodgers will be without the services of their grizzled rookie, Pete Reiser, who suffered a Charley horse after making his eighth straight hit in exhibition games at Brandtown. Brooklyn was beaten 6-4 by the Detroit Tigers.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Freddie Hutchinson, one of the most publicized rookies of the pre-training season, was the most forlorn youngster in the Detroit camp today.
Freddie, who came from Seattle to the Tigers at a cost of $50,000 and four players, made his second start as a major leaguer against the Dodgers yesterday and was hampered from the box in the second inning. In his first start against Washington last Saturday, he was reached for seven hits and two runs in five innings. The Tigers finally won yesterday 5-4.

NEW ORLEANS—Manager Oscar Vitt of Cleveland decided today to use Bob Feller in Sunday's game with the New York Giants. He said he had so at the request of Bill Terry who planned to use Carl Hubbell Sunday and hoped a renewal of the Feller-Hubbell duel would draw a large crowd.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Buster Adams, the St. Louis Cardinals' rookie who starred in Joe Medwick's place while Ducky was a holdout, was on the bench today with a fractured jaw. He was hit by a pitched ball in practice Thursday. Manager Ray Blades shifted Terry Moore to left field and put Lynn King at center. ### College Basket Rules Will Not Be Changed

CHICAGO — (UP)—The current basketball rules are good enough for the time being at least, so about all the "business" for 200 delegates to the National Collegiate Athletic association's convention of basketball coaches, starting today, is witnessing Monday night's NCAA championship game between Ohio State and Oregon.

The Big Ten and Pacific Coast champions, victors in elimination tournaments, will meet in the finals of the first NCAA title meet at Northwestern's Patten gymnasium.

Bill Chandler, head coach at Marquette and presiding officer at the coaches' meeting, indicated rules discussion will be brief. "There may be some talk of inflicting a more severe penalty on a guard who deliberately pushes a man going in for a shot," Chandler said. "I doubt, however, if many recommendations for changes are made."

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

MIAMI, Fla.—After watching Horton Smith and Henry Picard sink 15 and 12-foot putts for birdie 3's, Walter Hagen said he hadn't knocked in a putt like those since 1914, yet The Haig was in preparation was the star of the first round of the International Four-Ball matches at the Miami Biltmore Country club.

It was not the immortal Hagen's fault that he and Gene Sarazen were eliminated. Sarazen was of little help.

Hagen had a 68 in the morning and needed a four for 69 in the afternoon. The way he hit his shots amazed Sarazen and the day's biggest gallery. And so pleased the 47-year-old Hagen that he has announced his return to competition.

Hagen ankled into the true test of golf in typical Hagen fashion . . . after a shave and a few practice swings.

He had played only a half dozen rounds since taking part in the $12,500 Westchester Open last September.

It was only a few months ago, while on a world tour with Joe Kirkwood, that he was delirious from malaria in India.

LONG VICTORY STRING GOES BACK TO 1914

Hagen has won 55 major tournaments . . . dating back to his first United States Open at Chicago's Midlothian in 1914 . . . and perhaps carelessly tossed away nearly as many more.

Richard Arlen, the movie actor, tells of Hagen needing a three on a short hole to tie the then young Harold McSpaden in the Sacramento Open of 1934. Jug McSpaden, just married, was seeking his first important tournament victory.

"See that trap out there," remarked The Haig, as his tee shot found it. "This will be a fine wedding gift for that kid."

Hagen made his last great stand in a United States Open over treacherous Oakmont in 1935, when he was forced to play his entire last round in a storm and fished three strokes back of Sam Parks.

HAGEN PUTS SELF ON BUSY LIST

Anyway, it is pleasing to know that the great Hagen will appear in the North and South Open at Pinehurst, March 23-26; the Greensboro Open, March 24-26; the Masters' Tournament at Augusta March 30, 31-April 1, 2; and go right on through the P. G. A. and United States Open.

Golf has suffered for lack of color since The Haig and Robert Tyre Jones let down.

William Lawson Little, jr., insists that he'd do it all over were he again a celebrated amateur . . . turn professional. He calls the money players as fine a group as he ever met and the only real simon-pures.

Little asserts that in the spring of 1936, after he had become the first player in history to bag both the British and American Amateurs in successive years, he was offered $6000 a year and all expenses by a concern handling two entirely different kinds of products and shown a way in which he could remain an amateur.

"It was to play with certain of this firm's products and sell others," explains the young man who accomplished the unprecedented feat of winning 39 consecutive matches in major competition.

PROS SAY LITTLE WILL HIT TOP

But Little didn't like masquerading, decided to go all the way, and signed for the tour he made with Horton Smith and Jimmy Thomson. They were later joined by Harry Cooper.

The professionals like Little and his power game . . . believe he'll be in the select circle in another year.

NAT'L LEAGUE ADOPTS NIGHT BALL SCHEDULE

Calling for a season that opens Tuesday night, May 9, and runs through August 18, the annual schedule of the National Night Ball league was adopted at a meeting of directors in Anaheim last night.

Santa Ana, given none the best of the deal, will not have a home game until May 16. Still this section's No. 1 drawing card, the Stars were forced to take a "bye" on opening night and then drew a road game at Huntington Beach for May 12. They finally play in the Municipal Bowl against San Bernardino a week after the other teams have shown before their home fans.

The schedule was given a "going over" at the urgent request of Ben Gelker, who returns to the league this season as Anaheim's manager. Gelker insisted that Anaheim, rather than Santa Ana, get the first home game at San Bernardino which promises to have a bumper season by returning to its fine Ferris Hills park, where the Pittsburgh Pirates train.

San Bernardino was given a straight Thursday "home schedule" and was granted permission to sell tickets as well as schedule preliminary "kid" games if the field is clear by the regular 8 o'clock game-time.

Eddie West, Santa Ana newspaperman, resigned as vice-president of the league. His successor was not named.

The first-quarter schedule:

May 9—Anaheim at Orange; San Bernardino at Irvine; Huntington Beach at Long Beach; Santa Ana, bye.

May 11—Anaheim at San Bernardino.

May 12—Orange at Irvine; Santa Ana at Huntington Beach; Long Beach, bye.

May 16—Irvine at Anaheim; Long Beach at Orange; San Bernardino at Santa Ana; Huntington Beach, bye.

May 18—Orange at San Bernardino.

May 19—Anaheim at Huntington Beach; Santa Ana at Long Beach; Irvine, bye.

May 23—Long Beach at Anaheim; Huntington Beach at Orange; Irvine at Santa Ana; San Bernardino, bye.

May 25—Huntington Beach at San Bernardino.

May 26—Anaheim at Santa Ana; Long Beach at Irvine; Orange, bye.

May 30—Santa Ana at Orange; San Bernardino at Long Beach; Irvine at Huntington Beach; Anaheim, bye.

who, as Henry Picard will tell you, certainly can massage a putt. But all have a long way to go when you realize that Ralph Guldahl and Samuel Jackson Sneed established a new tournament record in using exactly 28 strokes, seven under par, for their best ball in smothering Horton Smith and Paul Runyan on the outgoing nine of the afternoon round of the final International Four-Ball match at the Miami Biltmore Country club.

These fellows today make true championship tests look like miniature golf courses.

Vic Frasier, Sox Pitcher, Out 5 Weeks

PASADENA (UP)—Vic Frasier, Chicago White Sox pitcher, today faced a five weeks' stay in the hospital with a skull fracture inflicted by a thrown ball. The injury, a lineal fracture, occurred two days ago during a practice game but was not disclosed by x-rays until yesterday. Frasier had complained of a headache. Physicians said his condition is not critical.

MORRIS' FAST LAP IS WASTED

A gallant but futile attempt by Huntington Beach's sensational schoolboy sprinter, Eddie Morris, to make up some 15 yards on the anchor lap of the relay fell half-a-yard short as Orange scores a hotly contested 57-55 upset victory over the Oilers in a Sunset league dual meet at Orange yesterday.

A belief that he was to blame for a bad pass that cost his relay team valuable yardage spurred Morris on in his attempt to catch Forrest Short, Orange's No. 1 sprinter, despite the pleadings of Coach Harry Sheue to slow down. A victory for Huntington Beach in the relay meant the meet.

Earlier in the day the flying feet of Morris carried him to a new track record of 22.5 seconds in the 220 (around two curves) besides tying the Orange track record of 10 flat in the 100.

Other good marks were established by Ross McClintock, Orange captain, in the discus and by Victor Heim, Orange's Class B 660 ace. Heim set a new Orange record of 1:25 for the lap and one-half event. Heim's teammate, George Clark, also broke the former record, running 1:27.3.

Bears Impress With 95-36 Win At Seattle

SEATTLE.—(UP)—University of California's track team was established firmly as a power in Pacific Coast conference competition today through its impressive 95-36 victory over University of Washington in their annual indoor meet here last night.

Coach Brutus Hamilton's athletes from Berkeley scored in every one of the 15 events, winning first places in 10 of them and tying for first in two others. In addition the Bears collected nine second places, Washington scored its only victories in the 180-yard low hurdles, the 880 and the 220.

VAULTER SOARS 12-6; JOHNSON EASY WINNER

With the near record-breaking vaulting of Billy Joseph listed as the top performance of the day, Coach John Ward's Santa Ana Don trackmen coasted to an 85-46 Eastern conference dual meet triumph over Ernie Payne's Chaffey Panthers yesterday at Clayton field.

After clearing 12 feet, 6 inches to win the bamboo event, same within an eye-lash of clearing 13 feet and cracking Jimmie Noe's school record of 12.7. It was the outstanding mark of the meet, although Joe Wolfe turned in a 51.7 quarter, Jim Johnson breezed a 2:35 "half," Wendell Tedrow high-jumped 6 feet 2½ inches and Al Ranford ran a 10:28.4 two mile.

Major surprise of the meet was the defeat of the Dons' Bill Morales in the javelin. Chaffey's Tierney, hitherto unknown to the event, caught the Don ace with a sore arm and bested him with a throw of 160 feet, 4 inches.

Johnson Easy 880 Winner

The half-mile and the 220 low hurdles were the best races, Johnson ran away from "Barney" Barnhold, Chaffey's Citrus Belt league 880 champion last year, winning by 15 yards after taking command on the backstretch.

Barnhold had all he could do to get a tie with the Dons' fast moving Vic Alleman for second place. In the low hurdles, Worden ran third to Chaffey's Utman and Bradley, yet hit 25 seconds.

Utman's time was 24.7 in winning. Other first place winners for Santa Ana were Sam Henderson in the discus; Vic Lindsog in the shot; Vernon Worden, broad jump; Frank Stafford, mile run; the Don relay team of Guyer, Alleman, Johnson and Wolfe and Claude Bassham in the 220 yard dash.

Bank-up seconds were Capt. Don Hall in the mile; Gil Brookings in the high hurdles and Jim Johnson in the high jump. Larry Guyer was a strong third in the 440 as was Larry Dresser in the pole vault at 11:6.

LAGUNA TRACKSTERS BEAT TWO SCHOOLS

LAGUNA Beach high school's tracksters overwhelmed Tustin and Capistrano in a Class A meet yesterday at Laguna, totaling 83½ points to Tustin's 37 and Capistrano's 16½.

Tustin got revenge by sweeping the "B" and "C" divisions, with 63 and 61½ points, respectively. Laguna was second in both with 47 and 21½, Capistrano third with 12 and 9.

Laguna's Joe Paul ran the varsity 440 in 54.4, Bill Vaughan put the shot 42 feet and Ralph Bryant won the high hurdles in 17.1.

State Champs Out To Repeat

Saints Trim Three Citrus Belt Teams

Santa Ana is almost a cinch to retain its Citrus Belt league track championship this season . . . if its triumph over three of the conference's leading schools, in a quadrangle meet at Ontario yesterday, can be taken at face value.

Scoring in everything but the pole vault, the Saints aggregated 54 points. Chaffey took second with 40, followed by Riverside with 26½ and Pomona with 12½.

Santa Ana's sophomores also finished in front, making 32½ points in a meet that was so close to the relay (won by the Saints) decided the placing of all the schools. Riverside was second with 30-1-6; Chaffey third with 29½, and Pomona fourth with 29.

Stocky little Wayne Piper ran the fastest 220 any Saint has turned in since Harvey Bear's time, 12 years ago. Bear holds the all-time school record for the furlong at 22 flat. Piper knocked off the distance in 22-1-10.

Howard Elliott took the 440 in 52.2, winning handily. Jerome Duffy rambled over the low hurdles in 25 flat and lost the 100 by inches in 10.1. Coach Reece Greene was also gratified by the improvement of his broad-jumpers. Stan Jiles won at 21 feet and Bob Kelchner did 20-9 for second place. Pierson Petty, a sophomore, came fast in the 440 for third money in 54 flat. Bob Kenyon and Bob Pollard ran two-three in a blanket-finish mile. Bob Fries also closed with a rush, barely losing the 880 in 2-8.

Saints ran one-two in the sophomore high hurdles but Yoder was disqualified for knocking three hurdles, Lawrence Coffing getting first place. Jack Granados ran away with the 330 in 28.5.

Santa Ana's trackmen get the acid test in a dual meet at Compton Tuesday. Compton is the early favorite for Southern California championship honors. The summary:

ICE FOLLIES"
AT W. C. NOW

The childhood favorite story of Cinderella is brought to life on ice in "The Ice Follies of 1939," starring Joan Crawford, James Stewart, Lew Ayres and Lewis Stone at the West Coast now. The spectacle, one of the most unusual ever filmed, has not omitted a single detail of the story. Manager Eddie Sugden reports. There is the Fairy Godmother, the Prince, the pumpkin coach and the glass slipper, all filmed in Technicolor. The film presents the dramatic story of a girl who becomes a great motion picture star and her husband who finally realizes his dream of staging an ice follies. Lionel Stander also is cast to perfection. The entire International Ice Follies troupe was used in the skating sequence.

"Secret Service of the Air," companion picture, brings to the screen a new series based on material compiled by W. H. Moran, former chief of the secret service, dealing with actual experiences by members of this colorful Federal law enforcement agency. The cast includes Ronald Reagan, John Littel and Ila Rhodes. That beloved little Walt Disney trio, "The Three Little Pigs," again are screened in Technicolor under the title of "The Practical Pig." This time, Disney has created Three Little Wolves to assist their wily dad, The Big Bad Wolf. Latest newsreel is also shown.

HOLLYWOOD, March 25—Off-hand, I can't think of anything sillier than the Hollywood yen to squeeze beauty into a definite formula. At least once a week, some studio casting director authors a new set of statistics—to have a chance in pictures, he proclaims, a girl should be just so tall, just so thick, just so old and, in short, just "so-so." Her ankles, calves, thighs, waist, bust, shoulders and neck should conform to certain measurements. Her features should be just so plump and no plumper and her eyes should be this color, not that.

Look over the list of great stars for the past twenty years—and try to find a single one who matched the specifications! For that matter, try to find a single one who could be credited with anything even approaching perfect beauty. Mary Pickford was too short and too plump, Greta Garbo is too tall and too angular, Gloria Swanson's nose was too tip-tilted, Norma Shearer's eyes are much too small, Corinne Griffith was too short-waisted, Alice Faye's features are too pudgy. You'll find that the only perfect beauty in Hollywood history were second-rates, or even less, in popularity. Beauty, beyond that modest degree necessary to attractiveness, seems to be a screen handicap rather than an asset.

The Hollywood plums go to the girls who are clever enough to make the most of their defects. Defects often give animation and charm to a personality—witness Sonja Henie's pert little nose. Or consider the caniness with which Mae West has capitalized on an "old-fashioned" figure.

MUTTERINGS: Any Hollywoodite who talks about his "paternal" affection for seventeen-year-old Nancy Kelly is one of three things—Nancy's father, an octogenarian, or a darned liar. Suicidal impulse: to explode a fire-cracker under Victor McLaglen's chair just after he's settled down for his after-luncheon nap. Sign: what a publicity genius was wasted all those years Leon G. Turoff was G-Manning. I'll bet you Uncle Sam felt plenty blue when Bing Crosby's horse failed to win that Santa Anita Handicap. Based on Crosby's annual income, the ninety thousand dollar purse would have netted the government nearly seventy-five grand!

Today's pet peeve: English stars whose accents grow more noticeable the longer they live in Hollywood. Anyone who would find fault with Ann Sheridan is just a crab—but I do wish she'd do something to correct that metallic tone in her voice. Secret ambition: to be able to call a spade a spade here in Hollywood without giving someone a dig. Growl: with a figure like that it's positively selfish for Irene Dunne to ban all bathing suit scenes. Nothing quite

FILM CLASSIC

Romance, adventure and comedy emerge in a whirlwind of impetuous, headlong action throughout the colorful scenes of "Gunga Din," Kipling story made into a sensational screen drama of British army life in India, coming to Walkers' theater tomorrow, according to Manager Vic Walker. Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., and Sam Jaffe are starred, Joan Fontaine having the leading feminine role.

"The Thirteen Golden Cities," an authentic motion picture story of the Metropolitan Water district aqueduct construction from the Colorado river to the 13 members of the district, including Santa Ana, also screens. A 10-foot-long relief map of the aqueduct is on public display in the lobby. "Mother Goose Goes Hollywood," Disney special color cartoon; "Once Over Lightly," musical comedy, and world news, also screen.

LOUISE RAINER TO SCREEN AT WALKER

The ambitious, disappointments and joys of a group of young people whose thoughts and behavior differ widely from other strata in the social structure, are dramatically bared in "Dramatic School," coming to Walker's next Thursday. "Dark Rapture," motion picture record of scenes never before photographed, of the Congo natives, "Mice Will Play," color cartoon, and world news also screen.

"Dramatic School" stars Louise Rainer, Paulette Goddard and Alan Marshal, with Genevieve Tobin and Gale Sondergaard in featured roles. It is the story of a factory worker and drama pupil who lives in a world of make-believe only to run headon into a real-life romance with the man she had created as her imaginary lover.

"Dark Rapture" reveals the secrets of the mystic rites of the Congo natives.

so pathetic as an actress in the Brown Derby, with a ready-made audience—and no one to call her on the phone. Nervous itch: to find Adolphe Menjou sound asleep—and shave off one end of that too perfect mustache. Imagine being a doctor—and asking Martha Raye to say "Ah...h...h." Silly notion: Imaginable hilarious evening: standing by while some of the glamour gals who always yearn (in their publicity) for babies, try to quiet one with cholic. Reflection after hearing Andy Devine sing: the song is ended, but the malady lingers on.

Miriam Hopkins has always been one of my favorite people because of her keen sense of humor. And here's an anecdote in point. The other day she reported to Warner Brothers to pose for portraits. During the sitting, one of the small spot lamps was upset and, in falling, it struck Miriam a glancing blow on the head. She shrugged it off with a laugh. "Just an accident," she said. "But don't let it happen a month from now when you're better acquainted with me in this studio. I've read all the gossip about my disposition—and by then I'd suspect you of throwing it at me."

COLBERT, BOB HOPE HEAD TWO
FARCES AT BROADWAY TUESDAY

Manager George King announced that "Midnight," that high and flighty comedy has been booked for initial showing at the Broadway theater next Tuesday. The picture is star-studded from top to bottom, including such names as Claudette Colbert, Don Ameche, John Barrymore, Francis Lederer, Mary Astor, Elaine Barrie and Hedda Hopper. Miss Colbert is delightfully posed as an American show-girl, given to mild gold-digging ventures, who has flung away her latest haul at the Monte Carlo tables and finds herself broke in Paris with a gorgeous evening gown and a native resourcefulness as her only assets. It is at this point that she makes the original Cinderella look like a piker as she "picks up" a fairy godfather, a 16-cylinder coach and more princess than the Almanac de Goth.... and the best part of it is she doesn't have to be in by midnight.

Only 30 days to live. That's the predicament Bob Hope is in in his latest comedy, "Never Say Die," the second feature. Hope, millionaire hypochondriac, is awaiting a chemist's report of his acidity test. The chemist gets the test mixed with that of a dog and announced that Bob has so much acidity that in 30 days he will digest himself, bones and all. Along comes Martha Raye, scheduled to marry a prince, but who is really in love with Andy Devine, her home-town sweetheart. Bob and Martha take matters in their own hands and the result is one of the fastest moving comedies of the present season, King said.

Gary Cooper

Bill Sunday

"The General Died at Dawn," a film story built around the exciting experiences and adventures of a different kind of American soldier of fortune in China, opens at the State tomorrow, starring Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll. "Penrod and Sam," from Booth Tarkington's boyhood story gem, is the companion feature while "The Spider's Web," serial Chapter 9, also screens. "The General Died at Dawn," including in its cast, Akim Tamiroff, William Frawley, Porter Hall, Dudley Digges and J. M. Kerrigan, takes a dramatic and graphically intimate twist as Cooper, betrayed by a blonde siren while he is trusted agent of loyal patriots in the buying of firearms. "Penrod and Sam," a comedy of thrills, is played by Billy Mauch and Harry Watson as Penrod and Sam, respectively, who go bandit-hunting with surprising success. Spring Byington, Frank Craven and Craig Reynolds feature with the youthful adventurers.

Ed. Norris Expert Flier
Stars in "Tail Spin" Soon

Edward Norris, featured in "Tail Spin," 20th Century-Fox production coming next Saturday to the West Coast, has finally solved the traffic problem. He found it took too long to drive to the studio, so he flies to work. The actor, who is among the most expert pilots in films and has put in more than 600 hours in the air, flew his own three-seater plane from the municipal airport at Mines field to Clover field, Santa Monica, but a short distance from 20th Century-Fox studio. By coincidence, he is also an expert pilot in "Tailspin," which stars Alice Faye, Constance Bennett and Nancy Kelly.

The second feature brings a new comic strip series to the screen. "The Adventures of Jane Arden," Rosella Towns was selected for the title role by a vote taken among readers of 79 newspapers.

BAZOOKA BOB HERE SOON Bazooka Bob Burns is due in Santa Ana in the near future, in what critics claim is the picture you have been waiting for, "I'm From Missouri," Bob, as the slickest mule-trader in Missouri, and Sampson, the stubbornest mule anywhere, gallop lickety-split for high adventure and hilarious comedy. Manager George King of the Broadway says Uncle Snazzy's nephew, Robin, will win your heart.

MONTGOMERY
STARS SOON

Comedy, mystery and romance are in the program coming next Tuesday to the West Coast. Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell are co-starred in their latest M-G-M production, "Fast and Loose," a story of the exciting adventures of Joel and Garda Sloane, the former, an adventurous book dealer who dabbles in crime solutions, and his fun-loving wife. It "reeks" with mystery. In the supporting cast are Ralph Morgan, Alan Dinehart and Joan Marsh. The second feature, a down-to-earth story of the fisherfolk of San Francisco's waterfront, "Fisherman's Wharf," tells of a father, son and bosom friend of the local fisherman's colony, and the family mascot, Slicker the seal, who is as outstanding a player as any of his human compatriots. The cast offers Leo Carrillo, Henry Armetta and young Bobby Breen. The St. Luke Choristers of Long Beach are in the picture.

Fun, Drama Vie On Coming State Bill

Comedy vies with melodramatic action at the State theater Wednesday and Thursday when "More Than a Secretary," starring Jean Arthur and George Brent in a pile-up of hectic fun, and "Wanted by the Police," starring Frankie Darro, appear as companion features. "Unusual Occupations," a novelty in color, also screens. Miss Arthur, now a foremost comedienne, has an excellent foil in the person of Brent whose last light role before "More Than a Secretary" was "Living on Velvet." Other outstanding fun-makers in the cast include Lionel Stander, Reginald Denny, Ruth Donnelly, Dorothea Kent and Geraldine Hall.

The story of a wide-awake American boy, single-handed, wrecks the "hot car" racket, "Wanted by the Police," concerns a youngster who gets himself a job in a garage so his sister can marry a police officer, only to find himself involved in a gang murder. Evalyn Knapp and Robert Kent assist in the cast.

In this homely story of a Missouri farmer who uses plain ordinary mule-sense to bring happiness to his friends and romance to two of the sweetest kids you've ever met, Gladys George is featured.

MISS DUNNE IS
STARRED TODAY

Irene Dunne, who has been association with madcap comedy characterizations in recent screen offerings, portrays a serious romantic role that stands out as one of the finest performances in her brilliant career in "Love Affair," co-starring Charles Boyer and currently being screened at the Broadway, the management reports. The actress plays the part of a luxury-loving beauty, while Boyer is seen as a notorious Continental playboy. The pair meet on board an ocean liner bound for Naples to New York where each is scheduled to marry into money. The story reaches a novel ending preceded by a refreshing series of dramatic conflicts which heightens the entertainment of the picture.

The second feature, "Last Warning," presents that likable detective of the Crime Club series, Preston Foster, in another thriller-mystery in which sour-faced Frank Jenks is seen as Foster's assistant. Joyce Compton also has a prominent role. Pete Smith's latest sportsreel, "Double Diving," and news round out the program.

HOW TO CHILL DESERT TOLD The sands of the desert really grew cold when an Arizona desert set was built for "Let Freedom Ring" on top of an ice rink used in "The Ice Follies of 1939." The ice was covered with canvas and a sandy desert floor laid on top because only on a cold floor could vaporized oil rise to form the early morning fog effects desired. "Let Freedom Ring" boasts an all-star cast including Lionel Barrymore, Nelson Eddy, Charles Butterworth, Edward Arnold, Victor McLaglen and Guy Kibbee.

Sorority Chapters Install Officers On Founders Day

Taking part in an unusual observance of Founders' Day members of Delta Chi Sigma sorority motored into Los Angeles Thursday evening to dine at Women's Athletic club with Los Angeles and Hollywood chapters, and join in formal installation of officers.

The dining room scene was very lovely, for tables glowed with yellow and white sweet peas and yellow tapers in silver candlesticks. Quite as ornamental were the individual favors of potted pansies which formed a rich border around the tables.

Quite an honor came to the Santa Ana chapter, for Miss Alice Martin, now completing a successful year as president, had the privilege of conducting the ritualistic work which installed all the different officer groups simultaneously. Her own successor in the local presidency was Miss Dorothy Hanna, stepping into that position from the vice-presidency. Miss Nadene Johnson went into the latter office, after having served as treasurer.

Miss Dorothy Baker succeeded Mrs. Corvin Frazee as recording secretary; Miss Vivienne White was installed as corresponding secretary, succeeding Miss Frances Roberts; Miss Henrietta Rupp went in as new treasurer; Mrs. James Newman succeeded Mrs. Lloyd Manderscheid as editor; Miss Henrietta Jinnet took over Miss Lois Wagner's duties as historian; Mrs. Laurence Farrar (chapter bride, formerly Miss Carol Smith) succeeded Miss Helen Manderscheid as mistress of ceremonies, and Miss Margaret Westover was installed as parliamentarian.

For their first event under the new officers, Santa Ana members will meet Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the Rabe studio for group pictures, and then continue to Miss Hanna's home, 422 Lincoln street, to discuss plans for the year's activities.

Informal Party Given Store Employees

Members of the staff of Rankin's basement were extended a pleasant courtesy Wednesday night when Mrs. G. V. Linsenbard was hostess at an informal affair in her home, 425 West First street.

Mrs. Linsenbard and her daughters, Mrs. Thomas Shedd and Miss Jeanne Linsenbard, had planned the affair. Serving of fruit salad in grape fruit cups, with cookies and coffee, concluded the hospitality.

Isn't it nice that Orange county may now claim Poet Rena ("Vermilion Bird" Anthology) Sheffield, who has her home down in poetic sounding Bluebird Canyon of Our Village? She finds the bluebirds themselves, more truth than poetry, especially when she has to shoo them vigorously out of her home every once in awhile. . . . In Our Village too is William (Register Correspondent) Kay, whose new bid to fame is inclusion in the World's Fair Anthology to be issued soon. Anyone who ever fails to read Bill's accounts of Laguna happenings, misses a rare treat. . . . Ruth (Mrs. H. D.) Newkirk, one of our Anaheim neighbors, relates amusingly her trepidation when sailing for Europe a few months back, at hearing French as the "medium of exchange," so to speak on the French liner she chose. Digging down into her memory for some of the modern languages she once studied, she declared that the only thing she could possibly recall was "Sprechen sie Deutsch?"

Didja happen to be listening in on the latest "Pull Over Neighbor" program on your "radio"? If so, you must have identified "J. E. Lloyd, engineer," with "Jack" (Cantando-Dep. Co. Surveyor) Lloyd, for he and Frau Linda were at the broadcast, and Jack, called upon to enter the quiz competition, "went to town" to the extent of a number of jingling silver dollars—especially in the singin' skule. His county office pals think he should declare a dividend. . . . Estelle Card (Mrs. L. L.) Beeman has plans well under way for one of those county-wide drama meetings such as proved so interesting come a year this month when held right here at home. This year's event is to be next Thursday in Anaheim. . . . When Hazel (Co. Tax Service) Northcross planned a monopoly party for Business and Pro. club gals, she had a set of swank oilcloth table covers designed and lettered in gold, made especially for the occasion by Homer (Newport Blvd.) Humphrey, Pretty nize.

When Maurine (Teacher) Harris comes home from Compton, she spends her week-ends planning with Maw and Paw Nora and C. E. (Carpenter) Harris, a remodeling campaign on the house they have purchased on West Eighth street. . . . And had you noted that Sanny Ann is to have its first penthouse? W. H. (Former New Yorker) Siemsen is incorporating ways of the beeg city with those of yesteryear, so that a business building will be topped with an attractive home. . . . So there's a new educator in town, on account the son, John Richard McCoy, born last Saturday to Blanche and John (Jaycee Journalism) McCoy. . . . Ethia (Show Me State) Hackney, visiting Cousins Agnes and George (Realtor) Townsend, heard one of the Register columnists, Dr. Morris Fishbein, testify in an involved legal case in St. Joseph. Questioned as to his age, the medico stated it was a personal matter, but reluctantly admitted to being "40 plus," a reply accepted by the state, which will interest all feminine and most masculine readers.

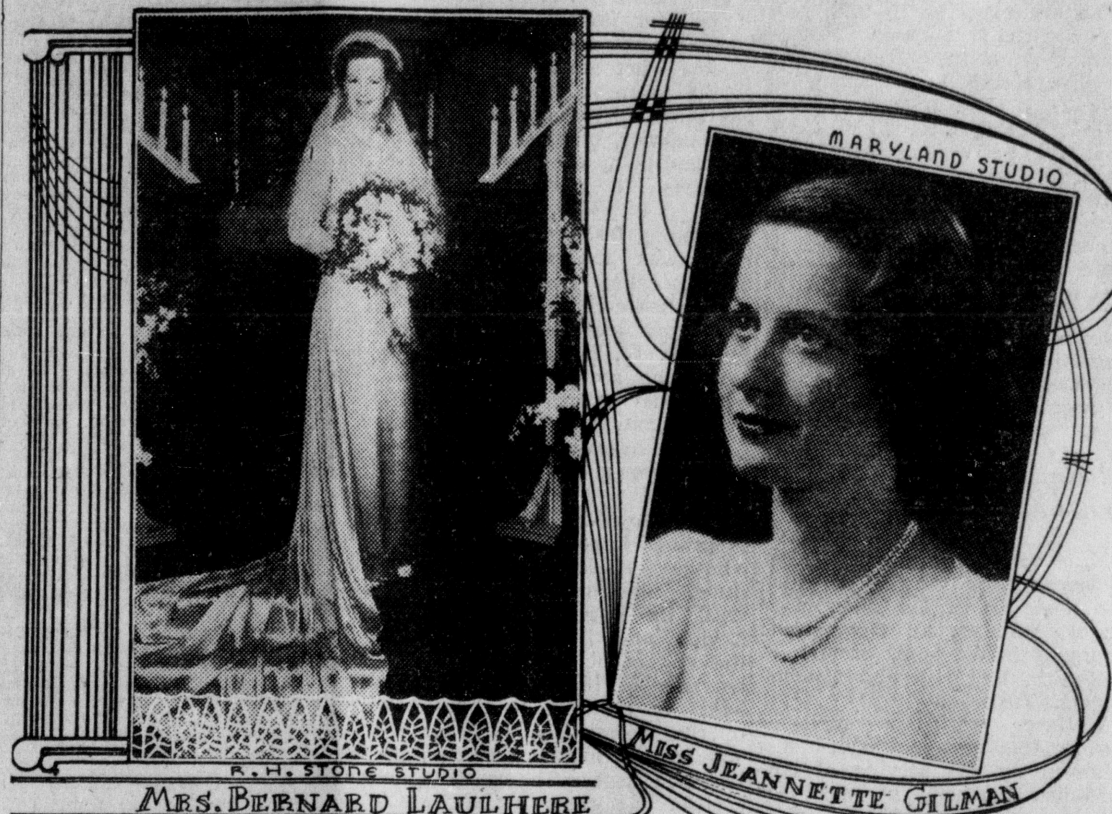

We were interested in Orange County Racing Pigeon club's first race of the season, especially on account because W. A. (Insurance) Proctor organized the club back in 1923—and we remember that "Bill" had a nice flock of pigeons when he used to live in Tustin. . . . Have you ever considered those two Look Alikes—our own Elsie (Mrs. Alan) Revell and Britain's Queen Elizabeth? . . . Elsie's Dotter Eloise (Co-Ed) Revell by the way, whose 15th birthday anniversary was this week, shares honors with her Grand William E. (Retired Banker) Otis, who celebrates tomorrow—so congrats to both. . . . We haven't yet familiarized ourselves with the pronunciation of the name of George J. (New St. Peter Lutheran Sky Pilot) Busdiecker, but we already are pleasantly aware of a friendly personality that argues well for his congregation's successful year, so here's a genial welcome to him.

Imagine the surprise of Lyle (Jr. Hi. Principal-Kiwanis Presxy) Mitchell, to receive many animated bids on a watch left at his place at a recent club luncheon, with John (Hardware) Knox starting the bids at a quarter—and then have it dawn upon the club presidential mind, that the watch really was his own! . . . Gladys and Frank (Insurance) Armin are nicely settled in their new home on Heliotrope, where Son Bob is especially delighted, for an enthusiastic airplane modeler, he now has a workshop all his own. . . . Beverly (Mrs. Jack) Rimel had the clever idea, when entertaining little tots for Dotter Jacquelyn's second birthday party, to invite them all for "after nap time" . . . Ed (Jaycee Publicity) Velarde and other Phi Sigs at Founders Day banquet in Los Angeles, were impressed by the fact that Prentice (Official Greeter) Moore was one of the early members of Phi Sigma fraternity.

It's Lohengrin Time Again

Now living in Huntington Park, Mrs. Bernard Lauhere is the former Miss Gwendolyn De Loge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeLoge, 209 Cypress avenue. Her marriage took place March 11 in St. Clements Episcopal church, Huntington Park, home city of her bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Lauhere. . . . Miss Jeannette Gilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Gilman of Pasadena, joins the ranks of pretty June brides-elect as fiancée of Robert D. Spurgeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Spurgeon, of Orange. Plans for the wedding on June 17 were told at a tea early this month in the Gilman home. . . . Mrs. Clara Anderson is another Santa Ana bride who chose to be married at out-of-town rites. As Miss Almina Hitterdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hitterdale of this city, she exchanged vows with Mr. Anderson on Sunday, March 12, in Our Saviour's Lutheran church of Long Beach. The young people now live at 1227 West Third street. . . . Mrs. David Beall was Miss Dorothy Truemper of Orange, preceding her marriage on St. Patrick's Day in the parsonage home of the Rev. M. J. Bruer of Long Beach First Evangelical church. The bridegroom is son of the Roy Bealls of this city. The newlyweds are receiving friends at 227 South Main street, Orange, home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Alma Truemper. . . . Mrs. Arthur Reidenbach (Lola Richman) of Fullerton was wedded at early spring rites in the parsonage of the Community church at Las Vegas, Nev. Her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John L. McElhaney of Bakersfield, were wedding attendants. Mr. Reidenbach is a druggist in Brea, and his bride has a flower shop in Fullerton.

Happy Party Honoree Receives Layette Gifts

It was with special pleasure in anticipation of her first grandchild, that Mrs. G. E. Bogart, 1548 west First street, brought a group of friends together yesterday afternoon, in compliment to her daughter, Mrs. Everett Glasgow.

Sweet peas and quantities of ranunculus blossoms added their color and beauty to the party scene, where guests took part in informal games of chink-chek and 500. After this interval of games and chat, Mrs. Glasgow was escorted to a table presided over by a big stork figure, and there had the pleasure of opening an array of packages tied with the pink and blue ribbons of infancy. Her contents completed the dainty layette she is preparing.

Card tables were re-arranged with pretty linens and clusters of flowers for serving a dessert course of devilfood cake, fruit jello and coffee. Mrs. Bogart was assisted in serving and in all the afternoon's hospitality by her daughter, Miss Norma Bogart of the home, and niece, Miss Catherine Bogart of Costa Mesa.

Two dozen friends were entertained, the list including Mrs. Glasgow's sister-in-law, Mrs. Melvin Glasgow of Costa Mesa, and her aunts, Mrs. Freeman Morton of Monrovia and Mrs. LeRoy Blankenship of Whittier. Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Theo Martin and Mrs. Ardell J. Martin of Orange.

Fifty Years Of Marriage Draw Near For Local Pair

Fifty years of wedded life—all but two years of which have been spent in this community—will be observed Friday, March 31 by Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Mansur, who reside at 1129 East Washington avenue. Although they plan a quiet celebration, their relatives and friends are evidencing great interest in the important occasion.

Mr. Mansur is secretary of Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, with which he has been associated for many years. At the time of his marriage in 1889, he was in the fruit commission business in Chicago, where he and his wife lived for the first two years of their married life.

Miss Helen Brownell and O. A. Mansur were married March 31, fifty years ago. Their first child was Clarence Mansur, who was born in Chicago. Other sons and daughters were born in California. They include Allen Mansur, who resides in Los Angeles; Stanley Mansur, Orange; Frank Mansur of the home; Mrs. Richard Metz of this city, and Mrs. Oscar Carlson of Placentia. Clarence Mansur now lives in Hemet.

Several grandchildren and four great-grandchildren are other members of this intimate family group. The Mansurs have watched the progress of Santa Ana from early days to the present time, and perhaps are identified as much with the community's growth as any family of the county. In his position with the Valley Irrigation company, Mr. Mansur has been in close contact with prominent ranchers of the community, and is well known throughout the Southland.

District Federation Board Meeting Outlined

Many Santa Ana clubwomen are planning to attend the board meeting of Southern District federation of Women's clubs, to be held Friday with Corona Women's Improvement club. Mrs. David Fraser of San Diego, district president, has chosen as the day's theme, "No Left Turns: Straight Ahead."

Morning hours will feature a debate on the question as to which contributes more to education, culture, spiritual uplift and social betterment of the people, radio or motion pictures. Mrs. Frank Stemen (San Diego) and Mrs. H. W. Pierson (Riverside), chairmen of the two departments, will form the debating team.

Luncheon at 12:30 o'clock will be served in Corona American Legion hall, and reservations must be made through Mrs. Everett Tilson, 407 East Olive street, Corona. Clubwomen are reminded that they may attend all sessions, regardless of whether or not they hold offices.

Afternoon events will include one of the popular quiz forums on the subject of "Democracy Begins at Home." District chairmen will offer "Ideals at Work," and the hostess club will present a piano duo. Mrs. Everett Tilson and Mrs. Genevieve Dart. Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton will review the program for the state federation convention in Oakland May 3 to 5, and as state vice president at large and program chairman, also will give an account of the recent state board meeting in Fresno. Mrs. F. D. Jacobs of El Centro, chairman of state trustees, will outline the general federation council to convene in San Francisco May 8 to 14.

Mrs. Gertrude Lamb called a short business session in early afternoon hours, opening with a devotional service led by Mrs. Roxie Crawford, with scripture lesson and prayer by Mrs. E. S. Newman. In preparation for the annual class election, Mesdames David Meyer, Marie Spurrier and Minnie Cole were named as a nominating committee.

Guests sharing the day's events with Fidelis members were Mrs. Myrtle Irwin of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Edward A. Poliak of Seattle, Wash. and Mrs. Rosalind Shaw of Orange.

Prospective Spring Bride Is Complimented Here In Her Former Home

Of much interest in this city, former home of the bride-elect, are spring wedding plans of Miss Wilma Rohrer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rohrer now of Los Angeles, and Dr. John Oliver, also of Los Angeles, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver of that city.

Miss Rohrer's cousin, Miss Dorothy Gowdy, is to be a member of the bridal party when the wedding takes place Saturday, April 8, on the eve of Easter. Last night she joined Mrs. Lloyd A. Gowdy in entertaining a group of Miss Rohrer's close friends in their home, 820 Kilson Drive. Guests were invited for a dessert course followed by bridge play amidst the flowers so charmingly arranged about the home.

Especially lovely were the corsage bouquets presented not only to the party honoree, but to her mother and the mother of her fiancé. In addition each place at the linen-spread tables, was marked by a small lace-encircled nosegay. These added a decorative accent to the central bubble bowls of sweet peas, and formed the daintiest of party favors.

In subsequent bridge play, Miss Rohrer herself scored high so had a graceful flower figurine to add to the collection of pretty shower gifts she received. Miss Marjorie Parsons was the other prize-winner in the group. Presentation of miscellaneous shower gifts brought the enjoyable evening to a close.

In addition to the group of Santa Ana friends sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Gowdy and Miss Gowdy, were several Los Angeles friends accompanying Miss Rohrer. The list included not only Mrs. Wilbur Rohrer and Mrs. John Oliver, but also the sister and sister-in-law of the prospective bride, Miss Elizabeth Rohrer and Mrs. Kenneth Rohrer, with Mrs. Claude Voughton and Mrs. John Smith, the former Miss Dorothy Kloess of this city.

Spanish Dinner Brings Altruists Together

With practically the entire membership to join in the evening's pleasures, Altruista club Thursday night gave itself over to party gaieties, dining on spicy Spanish fare out at the La Hacienda cafe.

One of the private dining rooms was set aside for the club group, and after members took their places around the candle-lit table, President Irene McFaul brought up various business matters. Some discussion was held as means of raising funds for the general club project of vocational guidance. Mrs. Charles W. Hyde proposed a plan which will be put into effect on the evening of April 6, with a club visit to the Winbiger Mortuary.

Mrs. Hyde, who is social chairman, also had charge of Thursday night's party plans, and introduced chink-chek as after-dinner diversion. Prizes of fine toiletries were awarded Miss Mary Andrews, Dr. Peryl Magill, Miss Helen Gallagher and Dr. Beatrice Schne. One guest, Mrs. Ralph E. White, shared the enjoyable evening with more than a score of Altruists.

Birthday Party Follows Job's Daughters Meeting

Members of Santa Ana Bethel Job's Daughters who have had birthdays since January were feted Wednesday night at a gala party which followed the organization's meeting in Masonic temple. Honored Queen Josephine Butler presided.

Miss Eleanor Lacy, who was in charge of refreshments and decorations, had assistance of her mother, Mrs. Thomas Lacy in carrying out festive plans. Flowers decked the tables at which individual birthday cakes lighted with tapers were served with hot chocolate. On behalf of the Bethel, Mrs. F. W. Dean presented gifts to the celebrants.

Mrs. M. W. Ball acted as mistress of ceremonies during a program which followed the serving of refreshments. There were piano solos by the Misses Betty Lou Kendall and Betty Jo Henderson. Miss Henderson also accompanied Miss Katherine Stockton, who sang solos. There were readings by Miss Eleanor Patrick and vocal solos by Miss Marjorie Ball, accompanied by Miss Joanne Overman.

Plans were announced for an annual spring formal which the Bethel will hold following a regular meeting April 26 in the temple.

Former School Friends Honor Spring Bride-Elect

Arranged in pre-nuptial compliment to Miss Arden Murray, a Sunday afternoon party given in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Hunt on Anita street, Laguna Beach proved of special interest, since it served as a reunion of former high school and junior college friends.

Mrs. Hunt (Farla Nell Clayton) and Miss Marjorie McDonald were co-hostesses at the affair, which came as one of several planned for Miss Murray preceding her marriage in May to Loren Wilson. Kitchen accessories in yellow and blue were presented to the bride-elect.

Games were played with the result that Miss Edna Wilson of Ventura, formerly of this city, scored high in bridge, while Miss Lois Kiser was consoled. Miss Letitia Morgan won the prize in Chinese checkers.

Twenty guests had been invited to the affair. Late in the afternoon they found places at small tables while enjoying delectable refreshments. Centering the table at which Miss Murray was seated were bride and bridegroom figures which had adorned the wedding cake served following the marriage last April of Miss Clayton and Mr. Hunt.

Housewarming Gift

Plans of Armeses club members for a housewarming compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Ora Jennings, were made with such care, that the hosts were taken completely by surprise Wednesday evening when some thirty guests arrived at their charming new home, 1004 West Camille street.

These Armeses club members and their husbands bore fragrant clusters of sweet peas, ranunculus and similar garden flowers to grace the home, and all the equipment for an evening of card play.

When the contest ended, Mrs. Earl Lindgren collected the tally cards and awarded prizes for high scores to Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell and C. A. Rousseau. Consolation prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barnes. With award of prizes, the guests produced a housewarming gift of a set of pottery for Mr. and Mrs. Jennings. Mrs. Mitchell made the presentation.

As their final friendly surprise, the self-invited guests produced refreshments planned not only as a climax to the housewarming, but to compliment two birthday anniversaries, that of their host, Mr. Jennings, and that of Mrs. Charles Ryan.

Mrs. S. W. Nau Provides Charming Program For Ebbl Section

Long-anticipated by members Ebbl Third Travel section, yesterday afternoon's meeting and program in the home of Mrs. S. W. Nau of Tustin proved to be one of the most delightful ever shared by the group. Mrs. Nau and her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. P. Boyer, were co-hostesses.

The home with its quantities of colorful flowers, provided an ideal background for the many objects d'art which are eloquent of the journeys which Mrs. Nau has taken to foreign lands. Fine embroideries, brasses, china, carvings and many other articles were displayed to fascinating advantage.

Opening feature of the afternoon was the serving of ice cream, cakes and tea dainties from a table centered with carnations, irises and maidenhead fern. Mrs. W. W. Hoy, assistant leader of the section, who presided over the afternoon's business meeting, and Mrs. W. W. Kays poured. Assisting in serving was Mrs. Boyer's sister, Mrs. Adam Zaizer.

Mrs. Boyer, chairman of the program, introduced Mrs. Nau, who gave an illuminating talk on India. She mentioned the country's three gateways, Calcutta, Ceylon and Bombay, describing the system of locks used at the entrance of the harbor at Bombay. In contrast to the people of the Orient, she said the Indians are neither gracious, polite nor neat. The speaker described the caste system which originated more than 2500 years ago.

Calcutta, the largest city in India, was described. She told of the Ganges and its bridge over which pass Hindus, elephants, camels, and snake charmers in a never-ceasing stream. Describing various scenic points, Mrs. Nau told of her glimpse of Mt. Everest as the sun came up over the Himalayas.

Mrs. Edith Cloyes added to the enjoyment of the afternoon by reading her poem, "California Gold" which appears in the current issue of Federation News. Guests were Mrs. B. E. Hause of Sabetha, Kans., who has been visiting with Mrs. A. M. Gardner and Mrs. H. B. Heil. New members greeted were Mrs. Caroline Thompson and Mrs. B. H. Baker.

Housewarming Planned As Armeses Club Surprise

Adult Bible class members of Orange Avenue Christian church greatly enjoyed the meeting this week, when they had opportunity to inspect the pretty new home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morgan, 1333 Cypress avenue. Mrs. A. S. Bash presided over the class meeting.

Special phases of the evening included a slogan contest in which Mrs. Albert Lowen was prize-winner. Young Jimmie Wylie played piano numbers, and the Rev. A. S. Bash gave two readings. During the refreshment hour, when Mesdames A. L. Wilsey, James Wylie and C. A. Browning joined as hostesses, the class presented a pair of handsome crystal candlesticks and matching vase to Mrs. Morgan, as a housewarming gift. She had served the class as teacher for several years. Mrs. Bash made the gift presentation upon behalf of the members.

Visitors From Colorado

Mrs. Florence D. Hawkinson, 412 West Second street, was visited this week by Dr. and Mrs. Henry Van Hummel of Denver, and Mr. and Mrs. William Weller of Golden, Colo. The Coloradoans were accompanied by Mrs. Hawkinson on a leisurely automobile trip along the coast, stopping at Dana Point, the San Juan Capistrano Mission and at Laguna Beach, where they had dinner at Laguna Hotel. Making their headquarters in Los Angeles, the visitors plan to include Mrs. Hawkinson in other outings which they take before departing for San Francisco to attend the Exposition.

Club's Spring Party

Special features contributed to the enjoyment of Thursday afternoon's meeting of X. N. O. club in the home of Mrs. John Manning, 304 Normandy Place. This was an annual spring hospitality for which members donned colorful house dresses.

The group spent the early afternoon sewing, and later on were joined by two guests. They were Mrs. Earl Frevert, who sang two songs in Negro costume, and Mrs. Florence Trickey, who accompanied her at the piano. Mrs. Trickey also played solos.

Passion Sunday Finds Troubled World

With Europe torn by dictatorships determined to bring their nations into power in the world; with our own nation embittered by internal strife and everywhere distrust and fear replacing a love for our fellow-men, it is fitting that we turn our thoughts to peace and sanctuary as exemplified by the Lenten season. Tomorrow, Passion Sunday, the fifth Sabbath of Lent, brings forth a special message to worshipers in all Christian faiths.

Since, after tomorrow, there are only a few more days until the close of Lent it may be well for us to listen to the teachings of the Greek Catholic church concerning Passion Sunday which admonishes the faithful to special mortifications and places before them the example of the penitent St. Mary of Egypt.

The story of the canonization of St. Mary of Egypt is one of the little known stories of the saints but it carries a dramatic and interesting account of a woman who knew the pain and squalor of the world and who triumphed over it. Recorded to have been born somewhere in the neighborhood of 344 A. D., St. Mary of Egypt came to the city of Alexandria at the age of twelve. Here, for seventeen years she lived a life of sin and evil.

Following this time she went by boat to Jerusalem on the day of Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross, not as a pilgrim, but "to enjoy life on board ship." Arriving in the Holy City she passed by a church. As she started to enter she was repelled by some mysterious force. Puzzled, she retired to the churchyard where, in a moment of vision, she perceived that her wicked life had barred her from entry into the church. Seized with remorse, she begged the forgiveness of Mary, promising that she would forsake her ways if she were admitted into the church.

She received the blessing of the church and was permitted to enter, where she consecrated her life to the way of the church. Leaving the city of Jerusalem, she came to the River Jordan, where she was baptized and started her life of wandering in the arid lands of Arabia. Here, for forty-seven years she lived on such herbs as the desert afforded.

At this time a priest known as Zosimus discovered the holy woman and gave her the Communion of the church. After the ritual she bade him return to her at the end of one year. A year later he returned to the same spot, only to find the corpse of the saint and the instructions to bury her. Aided, it is said, by a lion, Zosimus dug her grave and buried her, "having commended himself and the Church to her prayers."

In Germany, Passion Sunday is called "Black Sunday," from the custom of veiling the crosses and statues in the church, which was formerly done at the words in the Gospel, "Jesus hid Himself," but now is done on the previous evening. Among the Slavs the second Sunday before Easter is known as the day of pain and suffering. It is also referred to as Mediana, meaning the Middle of Lent. In some lands the fifth Sunday is called Judica Sunday, from the first words of the Introit of Mass: "Judica me Deus"—"Judge me, O God."

The remaining period of two weeks between Passion Sunday and Easter is called the Passiontide.

The Register also believes that the City of Santa Ana is most fortunate in the number of churches in its midst.

We feel that these institutions embody many activities that are of interest and are deeply appreciated because of their splendid endeavors.

With these thoughts in mind, a number of Santa Ana Churches have endorsed this idea and with the co-operation of many Santa Ana Businessmen and the Register, are presenting these pertinent facts of which this page is the 27th of the series.—The Editor.

TAXES WITH EYES OPEN

Many plans are being proposed, and some are in operation, for making clear to the public just what taxes they pay.

Most of them are proposed by people who think taxes in general are too high, or especially that taxes on things in which they are particularly interested are too high.

In New Jersey it has been proposed that landlords note on their rent bills just what proportion of the rent is chargeable to taxes. A large rubber company wants the same thing done on tires. Gas stations already do it.

Most of these plans are urged by those who believe that when many people who now think themselves largely untaxed realize what taxes they are paying, there will be a widespread demand for reduction. Maybe it would work that way.

And maybe it would simply result in a demand for fewer "hidden taxes" and greater "visible" taxes of the income and property type to make up the difference.

But in any case, it is certainly all to the good for everybody who pays taxes, directly or indirectly, to know what he pays, and why.

BUSINESS "BREAK" EXPECTED

The Wall Street Journal recently described business during the last few months as having been undergoing a "sidewise" movement. And it forecast, in a headline, that the break is "expected to be on the 'up' side."

Most of the barometers and indexes justify that prediction. Commodity prices, one of the best barometers of conditions, are holding firmly to good levels. Steel production in a late week was at 55 per cent of capacity. And in the same week, the standard Dow-Jones average of industrial stock values was 13 points above the year's low.

A rise in automobile production is considered to be of importance—many industries depend on this vast industry for their existence, and when motor production is down the ill effects are felt throughout the land. Domestic construction continues its steady rise, and great hopes are placed on spring building. Retail trade—prime barometer of family purchasing power—is fairly good.

Especially encouraging to business is the fast developing sentiment in Congress in favor of economy. Those who want to cut government costs aren't in the majority as yet, but they seem to be gaining new supporters all the time.

NO DODGING THE ISSUE

We have been told by Treasury officials recently that it is "necessary" to inflate the national debt to $45,000,000,000 this year, but that we needn't worry for this is not the danger point.

Perhaps it is below the danger point. But what is to prevent it going up again next year and the year after—like a snowball, the bigger it gets the faster it grows? The habit of reckless spending is as difficult to eradicate in a government as in an individual. And just where is the danger point? Would it be reached at 50 billion or 75 billion, or 100 billion? And lastly, just what excuse is there for complacently allowing it to reach the danger point?

It's easy enough to alibi excessive spending. It's a great deal harder to pay the bills as they fall due. And the American people, in spite of rapidly increasing taxes, has not yet had a taste of what paying means. We have added and added to the debt, in order to put off the evil day when income must be made to meet outgo. It's an actual fact that if we were at present taxed enough to meet expenses, our load would be as much or more than England's.

Reckless spending has been justified in the name of "emergency." But too many years have now passed to further excuse out and out waste in the name of relief.

It's time for straight talk about taxation and government spending. We can't dodge the issue much longer unless we are willing to court national bankruptcy.

THE PEOPLE'S LOBBY

At Sacramento, the legislative mill every two years grinds out a grist of brand new laws to the accompaniment of the cajoling, pleading and threatening clamor of a thousand voices, each with its own specific interests to guard and serve. Teachers, farmers, contractors and corporations, bus lines, railroads, movies and civic organizations—a countless list of interests send their representatives to the Legislature to see that they're not done wrong by, in a legislative way.

This session a new voice is heard, and a lusty one. It's the People's Lobby, so-styled by the legislators themselves. Directing its strategy is William A. Pixley, secretary of the Property Owners Association of California. Says Pixley:

"It is high time the small home owner, loaded to the eaves with old taxes and threatened with unbearable new ones, spoke loud and unmistakably in his own defense.

"The 115,000 home owners for whom I speak have but one interest in sending a representative to Sacramento—to make it plain that they have reached the end of their tax tether; to turn thumbs down on any new schemes for raising taxes; to cut the top-heavy half-billion-dollar budget; and to forestall ridiculous and impossible demands for nearly 24 millions in new taxes.

"Thousands of Californians in recent years have lost their homes under a flood of taxes; thousands of small businessmen have been swept under by the tax torrent. It is true but it is also emphatically true that the State must learn to do what most of us learned long ago—to live within its income; to eliminate every duplication; and, to use a homely old word, to economize, instead of asking for more when there is no more!"

The People's Lobby, if it sticks to that program, will find it speaks for a good deal more than the 115,000 that Mr. Pixley modestly numbers among his followers. For it's talking the language of every home owner in the state of California.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

ROOSEVELT, THE SAME ROOSEVELT

Since his statement last Wednesday there seems to be little cause for believing that Roosevelt has at all changed his ideas on government retrenchment of expenses.

He says, "We have the choice of following the policy recommended in the annual message or adopting the policy which has been advanced by perfectly well-meaning people; that is, cutting down certain expenditures of the government which, as I pointed out in the annual message, must, in order to be substantial, come out of certain obvious items which can be readily cut. They include relief for the unemployed, all forms of public works, social security for the aged, slum clearance, and various other items which today give work in large volume—all of these being predicated on the guess of many well-meaning people that thereby, taking away employment from several million workers, business will automatically pick up and employ that entire slack plus the other large number of people who are out of work but not in any way being helped by the government."

"If there would be some guarantee that this would happen, it would be worth considering."

Who is in a position to make any such guarantee? It is idle for the President to expect business, or anyone else, to guarantee full employment if government expenses are cut. There are other things the government is doing that will have to be stopped before employment increases.

Those who have made a careful study of history and have observed the decline of freedom of other peoples, can see no possible chance of a return of employment under the present government policies.

Would any man, who had long experience in business, attempt to employ people, if he knew that the government could tell him whether he dare lower a man's wages or dismiss a man or not, and whether he had to pay a slow worker a higher rate per unit of production than he paid a rapid worker, and that if he did happen to win, the government had a right to take any fraction of what he won from him?

We know of no successful business man who would undertake to employ labor on any new or venturesome enterprise under these conditions. And unless we go into hazardous, new undertakings, there cannot be full employment for all workers.

And the longer the government continues to take the wealth from private enterprise and use it in boondoggling, or in gifts to the unemployed, there will continue to be less and less jobs at good wages.

The President's attitude means that we eventually will have inflation and the people who have saved in the past, in order to support themselves in their declining years, also will become destitute.

We have had ten years of the present policy and we have as much unemployment as we had at the beginning of the period. It would seem that ten years is long enough to try a policy that never has worked in all history and still believe that we can take from the private enterprise and dissipate, in a non-productive manner, and still have employment at decent wages. It is an absurdity on the face of it.

So there is very little hope for any permanent pick up in business as long as the public will permit the head of the nation to interfere with productive enterprise. We cannot have more by having less as we have been attempting to do in the last ten years.

SUPREME COURT NOW LITTLE PROTECTION

With the appointment of William O. Douglas to the Supreme court, Roosevelt now has four appointees.

It seems that now the individual citizen will not be protected in his inalienable rights by the Supreme court. We really have practically done away with the Supreme court as far as protecting the minority from the will of the majority.

These last appointees, by their record, show that they are almost incapable of comprehending the historical fact that government is the inveterate enemy of liberty and the corollary proposition that only by severely restraining government can liberty be preserved. Our forefathers realized the tyranny of government. They were less concerned to regulate the citizen than to regulate the government. They knew that government was a necessity but they also feared it as a monster that had deprived them of their equal rights before the law.

The fact that none of these four appointees—Black, Reid, Frankfurter or Douglas—was outspoken against the packing of the Supreme court and that most of them favored it, is certainly evidence that they want the politicians to have the right to control and restrain the citizen.

So there never was a time in all our history that the kind of legislators whom we elect was as important as it is now, because the legislators now can make almost any law that interferes with individual rights and the Supreme court will not protect the individual. We are really now practically a majority rule country and no nation ever lasted long under a majority rule government.

THE NATION'S PRESS

NEEDS LOOKING INTO

(Boston Post)

It is to be hoped that the plan for a thorough investigation of the WPA by a Congressional committee to find out just what the WPA does with its billions will go through.

The President the other day said that "all possible economies in administration and operation are being sought." Yet the revelation quickly followed that the WPA is spending $250,000 of its relief money for an exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

Congress approved $3,000,000 for a federal exhibit. No doubt it was intended that this should provide for all federal activities. But the WPA heads calmly go ahead, without authorization, to spend this large sum.

Certainly this is a reckless waste of money and outside the province of the WPA. At a time when some necessary economy in administration is vitally necessary, enough money to keep 1388 workers on WPA payrolls for the next three months is squandered.

The WPA has received for the current fiscal year the sum of $215,000,000 and the President has asked for $150,000,000 more. This is far more money than the agency received in any previous year.

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Editor's Note: The following is the fourth prize winning article in the Junior group in the Contest, "What is a Fair Wage?"

"WHAT IS A WISE METHOD OF ARRIVING AT A WISE OR FAIR WAGE"

Wages in economics is the remuneration of labor either mental or physical. Or the amount of money rewarded for doing some mental or physical labor.

There are any number of divisions in labor. Which is caused by the gradual result of the propensity in human nature, to barter and exchange one thing for another. Sell their respective produce or getting into the present, do a job to the best of their ability.

Labor is the real measure of the exchangeable value of all money or commodities. What is bought with money is purchased by labor or by the toil of our own bodies.

Labor alone, never varying in its own value is the ultimate and real standard by which the value of all monies or commodities can at all times and in all places be compared. It is the real price. Money is the nominal price only.

The value of money to the person who possesses it is equal to the quantity of labor which it enables him to purchase or command.

If one division of labor is more severe than another, naturally allowances should be made for the superior hardship. If another division should call for an enormous degree of dexterity and ingenuity it should command a higher value.

There may be more labor in an hours hard work than in an hours easy business; or in an hours application to trade which it cost ten years labor to learn, than in a months industry at an ordinary and obvious employment.

The power of doing a respective job makes it possible for one person to earn only a meager living wage, while another may become financially independent.

There is in every society or neighborhood several divisions of labor in which there is an average rate of wages in every different employment. This rate is regulated partly by the general circumstances, its riches or poverty and partly by the peculiar nature of each employment.

A person must know and understand each division of labor, the productiveness and profits of each division, which depend largely upon the increase of dexterity in each workman for its great benefits before arriving at a wise or fair wage.

JOHN L. ARMSTRONG, 1042 W. Myrtle, Santa Ana, Calif.

Senor Editor:

In her fourth article the Senora Manana accuses you of desiring to limit, if not abolish, the public school. Again I do not understand as the Senora does. I understand it you want more education of the proper kind and less schooling also at much less cost. True: is it not so Senor?

We all remember the propaganda of thirty years ago for more money for schools. The statistics for illiteracy were given of some penitentiary and then we were told that we should spend more for public schools and we could spend less on crime prevention. Well we have spent more money lavishly on schools, but crime, especially among youth has risen with alarming rapidity.

The pretty theory did not work out. It was like many of the other pretty theories taught in our schools under the high sounding but misleading name of "Social Science!"

The Senora can find no trace of socialism or communism issuing from the public schools and seems to doubt there being any. I do not know how much is coming but there is some. I have found by talking with the kids. Does the Senora know that many parochial schools are giving up to eighth grade schooling at a fraction of the cost the public is paying and that not a single collectivist is coming from them?

Although we are spending around three hundred percent more than we were thirty years ago I have not talked with a single person around forty-five years of age who thinks the output of the schools is any better educated and prepared for life now than then and most of them say it is not so well educated.

"Children are an heritage from the Lord and blessed is he that hath his quiver full of them." The wealth of a country is in its people not in its lands and mines and other natural resources.

If our people become soft and enervated, lacking in independence and initiative dependent on government for sustenance and employment we are lost. A more virile race will push us aside.

The public schools are what we have demanded. A fetish we have blindly worshiped and avoiding our duties of parenthood we have tried to have the public school do much that we should do ourselves and which it can never do; with the result that it is not even doing well what it might do. Now Senora the art of writing is long and the patience of the reader is short so without more than touching the hem of the subject of education I will ask you some questions.

Do you find on examination that your children write a better hand than you? Are they any better grounded in the English language than you were? Are they as familiar with the multiplication table? Do they know as much of history, geography and physiology as you did at their age? The answer will decide for you whether the extra two hundred percent in cost has been worth the price.

When I view the educational political and economic morass in which we are sunk, I think of the famous Mr. Barnum: "The American people he like eet to be humbugged."

Editor Register: Some days ago you carried in your paper a story concerning senate bill 1189 which I introduced in the state senate the latter part of January. Subsequently thereto I received a letter from Mr. Paul C. Phillips in regard to the bill. Mr. Phillips was so kind as to send you a copy of the letter but he failed to put his address on the letter so that I could answer him personally. After his letter appeared in the columns of your paper I Calgary Herald.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—It is not entirely an accident that Cordell Hull is seen less and less around the State Department—even when the world is rocked by crisis as it is today.

Real fact is that the Secretary of State never was very active except in pushing his trade treaties, and recently he has drifted even more to the side-lines.

In fact, there have been recent reports that he would resign. These reports probably were somewhat exaggerated, but it is true that advisers close to Hull intimated that if he could get the Brandeis vacancy on the Supreme Court he would step out of the State Department.

Mr. Hull is now nearing his 68th birthday, is not in the best of health, also has been greatly irritated at suggestions regarding foreign affairs made by some of his Cabinet colleagues. Once or twice Secretary Ickes, Harry Hopkins and Henry Morgenthau have made intra-Cabinet proposals on foreign relations which Hull felt were an invasion of his department.

One Senator who is a close friend of Hull's remarked after a recent talk with him: "The old gentleman has been so babied that if you say 'boo' at him he takes it as a personal insult."

Now that the Brandeis vacancy has been filled, it is not likely that Hull will resign, but he will probably play a less active part around the State Department.

Note—Even when Hull is in town, it is significant that he seldom attends the joint conferences with Roosevelt and Admiral Leahy, Chief of Naval Operations. Under Secretary Sumner Welles attends in his stead. Since Secretary of the Navy Swanson does not attend, it is explained to Mr. Hull that he need not attend, and the real fact is that Leahy and Welles today run the Navy and State Departments.

Justice William O. Douglas The finishing touch which put across Bill Douglas as Supreme Court Justice was supplied by Gene Tunney, ex-heavyweight champ.

Together with Colonel Charles March, forthright member of the Federal Trade Commission, Tunney went to see Attorney General Frank Murphy. Both Irishmen Tunney had known Murphy a long time.

March had been putting in some strong licks for the Douglas appointment, and previously had been to see Senator Borah. As a Far Westerner, also as one of the most influential members of the Senate, Borah's recommendation was important. But he told Colonel March that while he favored Douglas, he did not care to take any initiative in recommending him.

In their talk with Frank Murphy, Gene Tunney and March urged the Attorney General to call up Borah and get his views on who should fill the Brandeis vacancy. Finally Murphy consented, telephoned Borah, and got an enthusiastic endorsement.

This clinched the matter. Roosevelt already was favorable to the SEC chairman, and when he got the Borah recommendation from Murphy, he sent his name to the Senate.

Hull and Spain

One policy urged upon Roosevelt by some of the Cabinet members Mr. Hull doesn't like, is the non-recognition of General Franco. They point out that the United States has followed a policy under both Democratic and Republican administrations of not recognizing territory gained through conquest, and that the Franco victory in Spain was won only through the tremendous aid given him by the conquering legions of Mussolini and Hitler.

Claude Bowers, recently returned Ambassador to Spain, is energetically backing this position, but certain minds in the State Department lean toward recognition.

Most important point raised by the Cabinet members who oppose recognition is the foolishness of the Chamberlain policy of yelling at Hitler in regard to Czechoslovakia, yet supporting Hitler in regard to Spain.

Hitler's success so far has been built largely on the policy of attacking the French and British obliquely—in other words, in an area where it is difficult for them to fight. The Sudetenland, Austria, Czechoslovakia all were in convenient battleground for the ex-Allies, yet each move strengthened Hitler's hand.

Similarly, Spain is too far away for Hitler and Mussolini to do battle on a large scale, and thus is an area where the French and British could reverse the Hitler technique of an oblique attack. Even today in Spain it is not too late for French and British munitions to turn the Fascist victory into defeat, which would be just as serious a blow to the dictators as the occupation of Czechoslovakia was to the democracies.

Yet the Chamberlain policy has been to aid France at every step. What some of Roosevelt's Cabinet family have to say about this and the State Department's mimicry of Chamberlain is too hot to put on paper.

No wonder Mr. Hull likes to take vacations during European crises.

Judge Florence Allen

Some of the newshawks who had predicted Judge Florence Allen's appointment to the Supreme Court were left high, dry and gasping when Douglas' name was sent to the Senate.

What they didn't know was the manner in which Judge Allen's name was eliminated. It was true that for a time President Roosevelt considered the Ohio jurist. But some of those who favored Douglas showed Attorney General Murphy the list of cases in which she has been reversed by the upper courts.

In this respect Judge Allen's record perhaps is worse than any other prominent federal judge's.

The Attorney General was persuaded to place this record before the President, and that ended the possibility of a woman on the Supreme Court—at least for the time being.

Under the Dome

Asked by a Puerto Rican woman whether she favored a statue of the President or a cancer institute in Puerto Rico, Mrs. Roosevelt replied, "I would much prefer to see in Puerto Rico a cancer institute bearing the name of President Roosevelt. I have little use for statues when living people need the money." . . . The House debate on the Interior Department's appropriation bill was a lame-duck field day. A flock of them buzzed around on the floor lobbying for and against various items. In the group were ex-Congressmen Mark Wilcox of Florida, Claude Fuller of Arkansas and Charles Binderup of Nebraska. . . . The rumor that Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold would shortly be ousted was planted by a utility lobbyist to create dissension between Arnold and Attorney General Murphy.

Douglas Successor

If the President follows the counsel of his inner circle advisers, the vacancy created by the elevation of Chairman William Douglas to the Supreme Court will be filled from SEC ranks in this manner:

Commissioner Jerry Frank, hard-hitting liberal, promoted to chairman in Douglas' place.

Ganson Purcell, brilliant young head of the SEC's trading and exchange division, made commissioner in Frank's place.

Thirty-four years old, California born and reared, and a star Harvard law graduate, Purcell is one of the ablest of the group of outstanding young officials that has made the SEC tops among government agencies in efficiency and vigor. As assistant legislative counsel of the U. S. Senate from 1930 to 1934, he helped write the original Securities Act that created the SEC.

One of the first young aces to join the SEC, Purcell's notable work won him steady promotion. During the past year and a half he has directed one of the most important bureaus of the SEC and has been its direct contact with Wall Street, where his reputation as a forceful law-enforcer is second only to Douglas.

My Pers'nal Opinion Is..

By Judd

There was a time, once't upon a time, when if we sent a blunt note to some other country, they'd stop everything else and read it, and chances we'd get an answer right back saying, "Glad you called the matter to our attention, assure you that it will not happen again, find indemnity check enclosed."

But that was when we had fellows like Fighting Bob Evans sailing our boats around, before we got to broadcasting to the whole world that we got our belly full in the last war, and from now on we won't fight anybody, anywhere, anymore, under any circumstances, 'cepting in Madison Square Gardens under Joe Jacobs. And that's why it's just a waste of time for us to be sending Hitler these blunt notes, telling him how we're disappointed in him the way he's acting up. That guy has got the word for it that we won't fight, and he knows our word is good, and so he just throws out no more in the waste basket without no more respect for it than if it was just another Nazi promise. 'Course we don't want to go clear over there for another fight, but whether we like it or not, we're liable to have to take some cards in this game, and if we don't play em right, we're going to have to fight again someday, someplace, and I ain't so sure but what it'd be better and cheaper to mussy up that country to get our'n all mussed up. And so instead of us using so blunt, we ought to be a little more tactful with a feller like that, and just write him a nice simple letter that he could understand, like "Dear Adolph, we changed our mind again, you know how it is,—well anyways, if you don't get back in your own yard by Saturday, we'll be backing up the other Democracies with all our resources. 'Course we'd rather not, but just in case we have to send over our man-power too, you might as well be looking around for a suitable asylum for yourself, on account of we'll prob'ly need your country for another project we got in mind."

LATE NEWS FROM ORANGE

GIRL SCOUT EVENT
ATTENDED BY 80

ORANGE, March 25.—Miss Val Stark, regional director of Girl Scouts spoke before a group of men and women interested in Girl Scout work at a luncheon at the American Legion clubhouse yesterday.

Referring to the recent donation of a city lot by the Orange Elks lodge to Girl Scouts of the Community, Miss Stark said, "To my knowledge this is the first time in the history of Girl Scouts that Elks have shown an interest in the movement, and I think it is a most wonderful thing. The donation of the lot and the assistance given the Orange Girl Scouts by the Elks lodge, is an inspiration and example for other Elks lodges to follow."

The director gave a resume of the reasons for need of Girl Scout work in the community, stating that the movement is 27 years old. Orange should have at least 500 Girl Scouts instead of the 250 now enrolled, stated Miss Stark as she predicted, an increase in members and usefulness, when the new Scout house is built.

Mrs. George Franzen, president of the Orange Girl Scout council, presided and introduced the guests. The representatives from the Elks lodge included Burhl Wing, exalted ruler; William Hirstein, exalted ruler elect; Dr. J. E. Riley, chairman of the Girl Scout committee; Ed Bula and Arthur Dunnack, committee members; Gordon X. Richmond, legal advisor to the Girl Scouts, and G. W. Coltrane, chief of police.

Leaders introduced were: Mrs. Ralph Shannon of older girls; Miss Melba Esten of seventh and eighth grade Scouts; Mrs. G. Pierce of sixth grade, Brownie pack leaders introduced were: Mrs. Wallace Craney and Mrs. Edna Joost, Killifer school; Mrs. H. A. Coburn and Mrs. W. Welty of Center street; Mrs. John M. Swent and Mrs. Ella Phillips of a newly formed pack at Killifer school, and Mrs. James Goode, to be the leader of a now being formed pack at Maple street school. Council members present included Mrs. Franzen, Mrs. Robert Gross, Mrs. F. E. Hallman, Mrs. Earl Wood, Mrs. Earl Smith and Mrs. Lloyd Baker. Almost 80 attended the luncheon.

EXPECTING TOO MUCH

"Mother, here is ten cents that I wanted to keep out of the change."

"What's this?" "When I bought the groceries I wanted to keep ten cents. I didn't give it to you and let you think the vegetables were 40 cents and they were only 30. But I thought I'd better not do it, after all."

And when they resist the temptation they ought to be rewarded with all the medals of heroism. There is rejoicing among the Saints, we are told, when one resists temptation. Surely there ought to be loud re-
